MARKET ENVIRONMENT

Market conditions began to stabilize in early 2009 after aggressive and unprecedented efforts by the U.S. government to restore order and confidence to the financial system and reinvigorate the economy gained traction. The arsenal deployed in this effort included more than a dozen programs meant to stabilize the housing market; provide a liquidity backstop to high-quality corporations; jump-start consumer spending; and provide financing and capital to financial institutions. An early beneficiary of these programs was agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS). The government effectively took over the issuing agencies and manipulated mortgage rates lower through large-scale purchases of agency MBS.

As the period progressed, the massive government initiatives loosened up credit markets, affording businesses better access to funding for new projects, continuing operations and debt refinancing. Consumer spending modestly rebounded, the U.S. housing market showed initial signs of stabilization, and the U.S. recession ended. Further, credit spreads narrowed, and credit yield curves migrated toward a more normal (i.e., upward-sloping) configuration.

As the period came to a close, economic conditions remained on a positive trajectory. On the domestic economic front, manufacturing continued to show signs of a revival, reflecting an uptick in new orders and some inventory replenishment. Although the unemployment rate continued to remain elevated, jobless claims trended downward and temporary employment increased. Despite the high unemployment level, tight credit conditions and slow wage growth, U.S. consumers showed some resilience, spending beyond the holiday season and into early spring. Additionally, the housing market continued to stabilize as home affordability approached record highs, buoyed by low mortgage rates and extension of the federal first-time home buyers tax credit.

Headline inflation in the U.S. remained tame, and the Federal Reserve Board (Fed) kept the federal funds rate unchanged throughout the 12 month period in hopes of spurring near-term economic growth. Conversely, with an eye to the potential for higher inflation over the long term, the Fed increased the discount rate (at which banks borrow money from the Fed) near period end and allowed some emergency stimulus facilities to expire (e.g., agency MBS purchase program) first steps towards removing excess liquidity from the economy.

PERFORMANCE

For the year ended March 31, 2010, Transamerica Income Shares, Inc. returned 33.49%. By comparison its benchmark, the Barclays Capital U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, returned 7.69%.

STRATEGY REVIEW

Edgar Filing: TRANSAMERICA INCOME SHARES, INC. - Form N-CSR

March 31, 2010 marked the fund's first full fiscal year under a broader mandate to find opportunities outside the corporate sector in a diversified pool of income-generating assets. This objective was achieved during one of the best possible times to own non-Treasury investments and take risk. We increased the portfolio's exposure to high-yield bonds, investment-grade corporate bonds and agency MBS.

With the thawing of credit markets in early 2009, we bought many new issues with high coupons and benefited from drastic credit-market improvements. We became more comfortable moving down the capital structure while maintaining liquidity as the market improved and investors' appetite for risk returned. We increased our exposure to high-yield corporate bonds due to improved corporate liquidity, stability and business prospects. After strong performance, we reduced our exposure to high-yield bonds to take some risk out of the portfolio and lock in some gains.

Early in the period, we increased our exposure to agency MBS. Both the government's implied guarantee and the federal programs designed to manipulate mortgage rates lower helped to make these securities attractive. However, as Treasury rates spiked higher and valuations on mortgage securities returned to more normal levels, we preemptively reduced our allocation to agency MBS. Further, as the government ended its mortgage purchase program, we saw the potential for underperformance in this area of the market.

A slight detractor from overall performance was our shorter duration positioning relative to the Barclays Capital U.S. Aggregate Bond Index, as credit conditions improved and yield spreads declined. However, the impact of our duration positioning was eclipsed by returns for the fund's individual security selections.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR FUND'S EXPENSES

SHAREHOLDER EXPENSES

Fund shareholders may incur ongoing costs, including management and advisory fees, distribution and service fees, and other fund expenses.

The following example is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars and cents) of investing in the fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other funds.

The example is based on an investment of $1,000 invested at October 1, 2009 and held for the entire period until March 31, 2010.

ACTUAL EXPENSES

The information in the table under the heading "Actual Expenses" provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use the information in these columns, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = $8.60), then multiply the result by the number in the column titled "Expenses Paid During Period" to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period. If your account is an IRA, your expenses could have included a $15 annual fee. The amount of any fee paid during the period can decrease your ending account value.

HYPOTHETICAL EXAMPLE FOR COMPARISON PURPOSES

The information in the table under the heading "Hypothetical Expenses" provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the fund versus other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of the other funds.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs. Therefore, the information under the heading "Hypothetical Expenses" is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if any of these transaction costs were included, your costs would have been higher. The expenses shown in the table do not reflect any fees that may be charged to you by brokers, financial intermediaries or other financial institutions.

Edgar Filing: TRANSAMERICA INCOME SHARES, INC. - Form N-CSR

Expense ratios may vary period to period because of various factors, such as an increase in expenses that are not covered by the advisory and administrative fees, such as fees and expenses of the directors and their counsel, extraordinary expenses and interest expense.

Fund Name	Beginning Account Value	Actual Expenses		Hypothetical Expenses (b)		Annualized Expense Ratio
		Ending Account Value	Expenses Paid During Period (a)	Ending Account Value	Expenses Paid During Period (a)
Transamerica Income Shares, Inc.	$ 1,000.00	$ 1,091.40	$ 3.70	$ 1,021.39	$ 3.58	0.71%

(a) Expenses are calculated using the fund's annualized expense ratio (as disclosed in the table), multiplied by the average account value for the period, multiplied by the number of days in the period (182 days), and divided by the number of days in the year (365 days).

(b) 5% return per year before expenses.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Transamerica Income Shares, Inc. (the Fund) is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 1940 Act), as a diversified, closed-end management investment company.

The Fund's investment objective is to seek as high a level of current income as is consistent with prudent investment, with capital appreciation as only a secondary objective.

In the normal course of business, the Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations that provide general indemnifications. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund and/or its affiliates that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss to be remote.

In preparing the Fund's financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP), estimates or assumptions (which could differ from actual results) may be used that affect reported amounts and disclosures. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund.

Repurchase agreements: Securities purchased subject to a repurchase agreement are held at the Fund's custodian and pursuant to the terms of the repurchase agreement, must be collateralized by securities with an aggregate market value greater than or equal to 100% of the resale price. The Fund will bear the risk of value fluctuations until the security can be sold and may encounter delays and incur costs in liquidating the security. In the event of bankruptcy or insolvency of the seller, delays and costs may be incurred.

Foreign currency denominated investments: The accounting records of the Fund are maintained in U.S. dollars. Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars at the closing exchange rate each day. Income, expenses, purchases and sales of investment securities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at prevailing exchange rates on the respective dates of such transactions. The Fund combines fluctuations from currency exchange rates and fluctuations in value when computing net realized and unrealized gains or losses from investments.

Net foreign currency gains and losses resulting from changes in exchange rates include: 1) foreign currency fluctuations between trade date and settlement date of investment security transactions; 2) gains and losses on forward foreign currency contracts; and 3) the difference between the receivable amounts of interest and dividends recorded in the accounting records in U.S. dollars and the amounts actually received.

Edgar Filing: TRANSAMERICA INCOME SHARES, INC. - Form N-CSR

Foreign currency denominated assets may involve risks not typically associated with domestic transactions. These risks include revaluation of currencies, adverse fluctuations in foreign currency values and possible adverse political, social and economic developments, including those particular to a specific industry, country or region.

Forward foreign currency contracts: The Fund is subject to foreign currency exchange rate risk exposure in the normal course of pursuing its investment objectives. The Fund enters into forward foreign currency contracts to hedge against exchange rate risk arising from investments in securities denominated in foreign currencies. Forward foreign currency contracts are marked to market daily, with the change in value recorded as an unrealized gain or loss. When the contracts are settled, a realized gain or loss is incurred. Risks may arise from changes in market value of the underlying currencies and from the possible inability of counterparties to meet the terms of their contracts.

There were no open forward foreign currency contracts at March 31, 2010.

Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities: Specially structured bonds in which the principal amount is adjusted daily to keep pace with inflation as measured by the U.S. Consumer Price Index. The adjustments to principal due to inflation/deflation are reflected as increases/decreases to interest income with a corresponding adjustment to cost.

Securities lending: Securities are lent to qualified financial institutions and brokers. The lending of Fund securities exposes the Fund to risks such as the following: (i) the borrower may fail to return the loaned securities; (ii) the borrower may not be able to provide additional collateral; (iii) the Fund may experience delays in recovery of the loaned securities or delays in access to collateral; or (iv) the Fund may experience losses related to the investment collateral. To minimize certain risks, loan counterparties pledge cash collateral equal to at least the market value of the securities loaned. Cash collateral received is invested in the State Street Navigator Securities Lending Trust-Prime Portfolio, a money market mutual fund registered under the 1940 Act. By lending such securities, the Fund attempts to increase its net investment income through the receipt of interest (after rebates and fees).

Such income is reflected separately on the Statement of Operations. The value of loaned securities and related collateral outstanding at March 31, 2010 are shown in the Schedule of Investments and Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

Income from loaned securities on the Statement of Operations is net of fees earned by the lending agent for its services.

At March 31, 2010

(all amounts in thousands)

Security transactions and investment income: Security transactions are recorded on the trade date. Security gains and losses are calculated on the specific identification basis. Dividend income, if any, is recorded on the ex-dividend date or, in the case of foreign securities, as soon as the Fund is informed of the ex-dividend date. Interest income, including accretion of discounts and amortization of premiums, is recorded on the accrual basis commencing on the settlement date.

Dividend distributions: Dividend distributions are declared monthly. Capital gains distributions are declared annually. Distributions are generally paid in the month following the ex-date, on or about the fifteenth calendar day. See Automatic Reinvestment Plan on page 17 for an opportunity to reinvest distributions in shares of the Fund's common stock.

Foreign taxes: The Fund may be subject to foreign taxes on income, gains on investments or currency repatriation, a portion of which may be recoverable. The Fund will accrue such taxes and recoveries as applicable, based upon the current interpretation of tax rules and regulations that exist in the markets in which the Fund invests.

NOTE 2. SECURITY VALUATIONS

All investments in securities are recorded at their estimated fair value. The Fund values its investments at the close of the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), normally 4 p.m. ET, each day the NYSE is open for business. The Fund utilizes various methods to measure the fair value of its investments on a recurring basis. GAAP establishes a hierarchy that prioritizes inputs to valuation methods. The three Levels of inputs are:

Level 1 Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical securities.

Level 2 Inputs, other than quoted prices included in Level 1, that are observable, either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.

Level 3 Unobservable inputs, to the extent that relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Fund's own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in valuing the investment, based on the best information available.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, but not limited to, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is generally greatest for instruments categorized in Level 3.

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different Levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the Level in the fair value hierarchy that is assigned to the fair value measurement of a security is determined based on the lowest Level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

Fair value measurements: A description of the valuation techniques applied to the Fund's major categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis is as follows:

Equity securities (common and preferred stock): Securities are stated at the last reported sales price or closing price on the day of valuation taken from the primary exchange where the security is principally traded. To the extent these securities are actively traded and valuation adjustments are not applied, they are categorized in Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy.

Foreign securities generally are valued based on quotations from the primary market in which they are traded and are categorized in Level 1. Because many foreign securities markets and exchanges close prior to the close of the NYSE, closing prices for foreign securities in those markets or on those exchanges do not reflect the events that occur after that close. Certain foreign securities may be fair valued using a pricing service that considers the correlation of the trading patterns of the foreign security to the intraday trading in the U.S. markets for investments such as American Depositary Receipts (ADR), financial futures, Exchange Traded Funds (ETF), and the movement of the certain indices of securities based on a statistical analysis of their historical relationship such valuations generally are categorized in Level 2.

Preferred stock, repurchase agreement, and other equities traded on inactive markets or valued by reference to similar instruments are also generally categorized in Level 2.

(all amounts in thousands)

Corporate bonds: The fair value of corporate bonds is estimated using various techniques, which consider recently executed transactions in securities of the issuer or comparable issuers, market price quotations (where observable), bond spreads, fundamental data relating to the issuer, and credit default swap spreads adjusted for any basis difference between cash and derivative instruments. While most corporate bonds are categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy, in instances where lower relative weight is placed on transaction prices, quotations, or similar observable inputs, they are categorized in Level 3.

Asset backed securities: The fair value of asset backed securities is estimated based on models that consider the estimated cash flows of each tranche of the entity, establish a benchmark yield, and develop an estimated tranche specific spread to the benchmark yield based on the unique attributes of the tranche. To the extent the inputs are observable and timely, the values would generally be categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy; otherwise they would be categorized as Level 3.

Short-term notes: Short-term notes are valued using amortized cost, which approximates fair value. To the extent the inputs are observable and timely, the values would be generally categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Government securities: Government securities are normally valued using a model that incorporates market observable data such as reported sales of similar securities, broker quotes, yields, bids, offers, and reference data. Certain securities are valued by principally using dealer quotations. Government securities generally are categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

U.S. government agency securities: U.S. government agency securities are comprised of two main categories consisting of agency issued debt and mortgage pass-throughs. Generally, agency issued debt securities are valued in a manner similar to U. S. government securities. Mortgage pass-throughs include to-be-announced (TBA) securities and mortgage pass-through certificates. Generally, TBA securities and mortgage pass-throughs are valued using dealer quotations. Depending on market activity levels and whether quotations or other observable data are used, these securities are typically categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Derivative instruments: Listed derivatives that are actively traded are valued based on quoted prices from the exchange and generally are categorized in Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy. Option Contracts and derivative instruments are carried at unrealized appreciation/ depreciation, including forward contracts, swap contracts, and future contracts. These are generally categorized as a Level 2 in the fair value hierarchy. Over the counter (OTC) derivative contracts include forward, swap, and option contracts related to interest rates, foreign currencies, credit standing of reference entities, equity prices, or commodity prices. Depending on the product and the terms of the transaction, the fair value of the OTC derivative products are modeled by taking into account the counterparties' creditworthiness and using a series of techniques, including simulation models. Many pricing models do not entail material subjectivity because the methodologies employed do not necessitate significant judgments and the pricing inputs are observed from actively quoted markets, as is the case for interest rate swap and option contracts. A substantial majority of OTC derivative products valued by the Fund using pricing models fall into this category and generally are categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Securities lending collateral: Securities lending collateral is a money market fund which is valued at the net assets of the underlying portfolios and no valuation adjustments are applied. They are categorized in Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy.

Other: Securities for which quotations are not readily available or whose values have been determined to be unreliable are valued at fair market value as determined in good faith by Transamerica Asset Management, Inc. s. (TAM) Valuation Committee under the supervision of the Board of Directors.

The hierarchy classification of inputs used to value the Fund s investments, at March 31, 2010, is included at the end of the Fund s Schedule of Investments.

NOTE 6. FEDERAL INCOME TAX MATTERS

The Fund has not made any provision for federal income or excise taxes due to its policy to distribute all of its taxable income and capital gains to its shareholders and otherwise qualify as a regulated investment company under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code. The Fund recognizes the tax benefits of uncertain tax positions only where the position is more likely than not to be sustained assuming examination by tax authorities. Management has evaluated the Fund's tax positions taken for all open tax years (2007-2010), or expected to be taken in the Fund's 2010 tax return, and has concluded that no provision for income tax is required in the Fund's financial statements. The Fund identifies its major tax jurisdictions as U.S. Federal, the state of Florida, and foreign jurisdictions where the Fund makes significant investments; however, the Fund is not aware of any tax positions for which it is reasonably possible that the total amounts of unrecognized tax benefits will change materially in the next twelve months. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. These differences are primarily due to differing treatment for items including, but not limited to, foreign bonds, foreign currency transactions, capital loss carryforwards, and post-October loss deferrals, paydowns, and bond premium amortization.

Therefore, distributions determined in accordance with tax regulations may differ significantly in amount or character from net investment income and realized gains for financial reporting purposes. Financial reporting records are adjusted for permanent book/tax differences to reflect tax character. Financial records are not adjusted for temporary differences. These reclassifications are as follows:

Undistributed (accumulated) net investment income (loss)	$	986
Undistributed (accumulated) net realized gain (loss) from investment securities		(986)

The capital loss carryforwards are available to offset future realized gains through the periods listed below:

Capital Loss Carryforwards	Available Through
$ 1,326	March 31, 2015
1,697	March 31, 2016
9,429	March 31, 2017

The capital loss carryforward utilized or expired during the year ended March 31, 2010 was $284.

The tax character of distributions paid may differ from the character of distributions shown in the Statements of Changes in Net Assets due to short-term gains being treated as ordinary income for tax purposes. The tax character of distributions paid during 2009 and 2008 was as follows:

2010 Distributions paid from:
Ordinary Income	$ 9,762
2009 Distributions paid from:
Ordinary Income	8,041

The tax basis components of distributable earnings as of March 31, 2010 are as follows:

Undistributed Ordinary Income	$ 1,133
Capital Loss Carryforward	(12,452)
Net Unrealized Appreciation	10,229
Other Temporary Differences	(853)

Report of Independent Registered Certified Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Transamerica Income Shares, Inc:

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities, including the schedule of investments, and the related statements of operations and of changes in net assets and the financial highlights present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Transamerica Income Shares, Inc. (the Fund) at March 31, 2010, the results of its operations for the year then ended, the changes in its net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These financial statements and financial highlights (hereafter referred to as financial statements) are the responsibility of the Fund s management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits of these financial statements in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits, which included confirmation of securities at March 31, 2010 by correspondence with the custodian and brokers, provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

SUPPLEMENTAL TAX INFORMATION (unaudited)

(all amounts in thousands)

For corporate shareholders, 1.87% of investment income (dividend income plus short-term gains, if any) qualifies for the dividends received deduction.

The Fund designates a maximum amount of $72 as qualified dividend income, which is 0.70% of what was distributed.

The information and distributions reported herein may differ from the information and distributions taxable to the shareholders for the calendar year ended December 31, 2009. Complete information was computed and reported in conjunction with year 2009 Form 1099-DIV.

AUTOMATIC REINVESTMENT PLAN

Holders of 50 shares or more of the Fund's common stock are offered the opportunity to reinvest dividends and other distributions in shares of the common stock of the Fund through participation in the Automatic Reinvestment Plan (the Plan). Under the Plan, BNY Mellon, as Transfer Agent, automatically invests dividends and other distributions in shares of the Fund's common stock by making purchases in the open market. Plan participants may also deposit cash in amounts between $25 and $2,500 with BNY Mellon for the purchase of additional shares. Dividends, distributions and cash deposits are invested in, and each participant's account credited with, full and fractional shares.

The price at which BNY Mellon is deemed to have acquired shares for a participant's account is the average price (including brokerage commissions and any other costs of purchase) of all shares purchased by it for all participants in the Plan.

Your dividends and distributions, even though automatically reinvested, continue to be taxable as though received in cash.

Another feature of the Plan is the Optional Cash Only feature. You can make additional investments only, without reinvesting your monthly dividend. If you own 50 shares or more, registered in your name and currently in your Plan account, and desire to periodically send additional contributions between $25 and $2,500 for investment, you may do so. The shares you own and the new shares acquired through this feature will not participate in automatic reinvestment of dividends and distributions. Rather, the shares you acquire if you participate in the Optional Cash Only feature of the Plan will be held for safekeeping in your Plan account. Each investment will be made on or near the next dividend payment date. All other procedures for the purchase and sale of shares described above will apply.

BNY Mellon charges a service fee of $1.75 for each investment, including both dividend reinvestment and optional cash investment.

Shareholders interested in obtaining a copy of the Plan should contact BNY Mellon:

Stockholder Removal of A Director The Fund elected to be subject to Section 3-804 of the MGCL by adopting resolutions requiring a vote of stockholders entitled to cast two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast in the election of directors in order to remove a director.

Number of Directors; Board Vacancies The Fund elected to be subject to Section 3-804 of the MGCL by adopting resolutions providing the Board with the sole power to fix the number of directors, as well as the sole power to fill Board vacancies.

Stockholder-Requested Special Meetings The Fund elected to be subject to Section 3-805 of the MGCL by adopting resolutions requiring, in order for stockholders to require the Secretary of the Fund to call a special stockholders meeting, the written request of stockholders entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast at such a meeting.

Potential Conflicts of Interest

At TIM, individual portfolio managers may manage multiple accounts for multiple clients. In addition to the sub-advisory management of the Fund, TIM manages separate accounts for institutions and individuals. TIM manages potential conflicts between accounts through its allocation policies and procedures, internal review processes and oversight by senior management and its board of directors. TIM has developed trade allocation policies to address potential conflicts in situations where two or more accounts participate in investment decisions involving the same securities using procedures that it considers to be fair and equitable. As of March 31, 2010, TIM did not foresee any conflict of interest in the management of the Fund.

(a) (3) Compensation for the Fiscal Year Completed March 31, 2010

TIM portfolio managers, including members of the executive team, are remunerated with a combination of base salary, performance-based bonus and ownership interest. The overall compensation structure is reviewed annually for market competitiveness as compared to its industry peers.

For purposes of determining performance-based compensation, potential track records (pre-tax) are based on full years of portfolio management for TIM. Eighty percent of the performance-based compensation is based on the ranking of a portfolio's track record relative to independent peer universes of portfolios with a similar market capitalization range and investment style. The calculation is weighted toward longer-term performance results. The remaining 20% of performance-based compensation reflects the portfolio manager's individual contributions to the development of the overall investment process and investment team at TIM.

Key investment personnel have ownership interests in TIM and are evaluated on an annual basis to determine additional allocations of ownership interest. Such interests entitle the owner to quarterly distribution of profits as well as certain liquidity features. The interests effectively vest over a determined time period so as to provide a retention incentive. This ownership feature is intended to create both stability and an entrepreneurial atmosphere at TIM.
