SCOTTISH POWER ANNOUNCES SETTLEMENT OF NEA LITIGATION

GLASGOW - July 16, 2002 - ScottishPower (LSE: SPW, NYSE: SPI) today announced that British Energy (BE), Scottish Power (SP) and Scottish and Southern Energy (SSE) yesterday agreed revised terms to the Nuclear Energy Agreement (NEA).

The revised terms are subject to regulatory approval but legal proceedings have been suspended.

SP and SSE will pay BE the equivalent of a premium of around (pound)1.65/MWh on purchases for the period between NETA go-live and expected BETTA go-live. Most of this payment has already been made. Under the revised terms, SP and SSE will now purchase electricity from BE under arrangements much more closely linked to market prices and terms for base load energy in England and Wales.

The amended NEA will continue in operation until the introduction of the British Electricity Transmission and Trading Arrangements (BETTA) or, if earlier, 1 April 2006. Beyond that date, SP and SSE have an option for follow-on contracts up to 2011 at reduced volumes.

The settlement is satisfactory to all sides and the companies believe it represents a fair and reasonable basis on which to resolve the dispute between them.

All three companies welcome the agreement, in that it removes uncertainty and provides continuity and stability to the customer and supplier relationship over the longer term.
