General Employee Questions & Answers

December 2011

Can you explain this transaction?

Entergy Corporation and ITC have entered into a definitive agreement whereby Entergy will divest and merge its transmission business into ITC in an all-stock transaction. Entergy will first pursue a separation of its transmission business from Entergy's regulated utility operating companies through a new company, Mid South Transco LLC, which will become a wholly owned operating company of ITC.

Is this an acquisition of Entergy's transmission assets by ITC?

The transmission business (assets and employees) of Entergy are being merged into ITC through this transaction. Mid South Transco will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of ITC which will be the surviving entity after the merger maintaining the company's longstanding commitment to independent operations. ITC will have a new regional headquarters in Jackson, MS, while maintaining corporate headquarters in Novi, MI.

How long will it take to close this transaction?

The merger is subject to regulatory and shareholder approvals and is expected to be completed in 2013.

How will things operate during the regulatory approval process?

Both companies will continue to operate as separate companies, as they do today's throughout the approval process.

What should employees be doing?

One of the reasons Entergy chose to work with ITC is for our commitment to investing in our electric transmission systems to provide benefits to customers. It is critical that ITC employees remain focused on their jobs and support the company's mission of investing in the electric transmission system to ensure reliable operations. In other words, stay focused on your job just as you always have. That is what has made ITC successful.

What will happen to our jobs after this transaction closes?

Prior to the closing of the transaction, Entergy and ITC will develop the organizational structure and reporting relationships of the combined entity, which will be communicated to employees when available. This transaction is about creating jobs and it is not anticipated that ITC or Entergy will reduce workforce. Approximately 750 Entergy transmission employees will become ITC employees. In addition, two new independent directors who will have transmission industry knowledge and familiarity with the Entergy regions will be appointed to our Board.

Once the transaction is complete, what will the new ITC company footprint look like?

Operations in 12 states

Over 30,000 miles of transmission lines

Peak load of 50,000 MW

1,200 employees (750 transfers from Entergy)

One of the largest electric transmission companies in the U.S.

1st based on net plant, property & equipment (PP&E) and peak load served

2nd based on transmission line miles

Cautionary Language Concerning Forward-Looking Statements

This document contains certain statements that describe ITC management's beliefs concerning future business conditions and prospects, growth opportunities and the outlook for ITC's business, including ITC's business and the electric transmission industry based upon information currently available. Such statements are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Wherever possible, ITC has identified these forward-looking statements by words such as anticipates, believes, intends, estimates, expects, projects, similar phrases. These forward-looking statements are based upon assumptions ITC management believes are reasonable. Such forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties which could cause ITC's actual results, performance and achievements to differ materially from those expressed in, or implied by, these statements, including, among other things, (a) the risks and uncertainties disclosed in ITC's annual report on Form 10-K and ITC's quarterly reports on Form 10-Q filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC) from time to time and (b) the following transactional factors (in addition to others described elsewhere in this document and in subsequent filings with the SEC): (i) risks inherent in the contemplated transaction, including: (A) failure to obtain approval by the Company's shareholders; (B) failure to obtain regulatory approvals necessary to consummate the transaction or to obtain regulatory approvals on favorable terms; (C) the ability to obtain the required financings; (D) delays in consummating the transaction or the failure to consummate the transactions; and (E) exceeding the expected costs of the transactions; (ii) legislative and regulatory actions, and (iii) conditions of the capital markets during the periods covered by the forward-looking statements.

Because ITC's forward-looking statements are based on estimates and assumptions that are subject to significant business, economic and competitive uncertainties, many of which are beyond ITC's control or are subject to change, actual results could be materially different and any or all of ITC's forward-looking statements may turn out to be wrong. They speak only as of the date made and can be affected by assumptions ITC might make or by known or unknown risks and uncertainties. Many factors mentioned in this document and the exhibits hereto and in ITC's annual and quarterly reports will be important in determining future results. Consequently, ITC cannot assure you that ITC's expectations or forecasts expressed in such forward-looking statements will be achieved. Actual future results may vary materially. Except as required by law,
