Item 8.01. Other Events.

Our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter ended May 2, 2009 (our “Fiscal 2010 First Quarter Form 10-Q”), filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) on June 11, 2009, reflected the retrospective adoption of Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Staff Position (“FSP”) APB 14-1 “Accounting for Convertible Debt Instruments That May Be Settled in Cash Upon Conversion (Including Partial Cash Settlements).” In connection with the adoption of FSP APB 14-1, we also identified an error related to the accounting for deferred taxes for a purchased call option. We are filing this Current Report on Form 8-K to revise the historical financial information included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended January 31, 2009 (our “Fiscal 2009 Form 10-K”).

Pronouncement Retrospectively Applied

In May 2008 the FASB issued FSP APB 14-1 “Accounting for Convertible Debt Instruments That May Be Settled in Cash Upon Conversion (Including Partial Cash Settlements,)” which changes the accounting treatment for convertible securities that the issuer may settle fully or partially in cash. We reflected our adoption of the provisions of FSP APB 14-1 for our 1.125% Senior Convertible Notes due May 2014 (the “1.125% Notes”) as of February 1, 2009 in our Fiscal 2010 First Quarter Form 10-Q and applied the provisions retrospectively to all past periods presented.

Prior to the adoption of FSP APB 14-1, we recorded the liability for our 1.125% Notes at their principal value and recognized the contractual interest on the notes as interest expense. Under FSP APB 14-1, cash-settled convertible securities are separated into their debt and equity components. The value assigned to the debt component is the estimated fair value, as of the issuance date, of a similar debt instrument without the conversion feature. As a result, the debt is recorded at a discount to adjust its below-market coupon interest rate to the market coupon interest rate for the similar debt instrument without the conversion feature. The difference between the proceeds for the convertible debt and the amount reflected as the debt component represents the fair value of the conversion feature and has been recognized as additional paid-in capital. We will accrete the debt to its principal value over its expected life using the effective interest method, with an offsetting increase in interest expense on our statements of operations to reflect the market rate for the debt component at the date of issuance. Adoption of the FSP affects the calculation of net income and earnings per share, but does not affect our cash flows. Upon maturity of the 1.125% Notes we will be obligated to repay to holders of the notes the $275,000,000 principal value of the notes less the principal value of any notes that we repurchase prior to maturity.

In connection with the adoption of FSP APB 14-1 we identified an error related to the accounting for deferred taxes for a purchased call option, as discussed further below, which was entered into contemporaneously with the issuance of our 1.125% Notes in Fiscal 2008. Concurrent with the issuance of the Notes we also entered into a series of hedge transactions, which included the purchase of a call option with a cost of approximately $90,500,000. The cost of the call option was accounted for as an equity transaction in our financial statements. For income tax purposes the cost of the call option is treated as original issue discount (“OID”) and amortized over the life of the Notes. We were recording the resulting tax benefit in our financial statements as an increase to additional paid-in capital, as the tax benefit was reported in our annual income tax returns. However, the treatment of the call option as OID for income tax purposes created a book-tax basis difference on the issuance date of the debt for which a deferred tax asset of approximately $33,000,000 should have been recognized, with a corresponding increase to additional paid-in capital.

During Fiscal 2009, based on our evaluation of the realization of deferred tax assets and negative evidence provided by recent losses, we recognized a non-cash income tax provision to establish a full valuation allowance against our net deferred tax assets. Accordingly, the understatement of deferred tax assets resulted in an understatement of the valuation allowance for deferred tax assets and the income tax provision in Fiscal 2009 of approximately $30,000,000.

In evaluating these errors we considered the requirements in FASB Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (“SFAS”) No. 154, “Accounting Changes and Error Corrections – a replacement of APB Opinion No. 20 and FASB Statement No. 3,” SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 99, “Materiality,” and Accounting Principles Board (“APB”) Opinion No. 28, “Interim Financial Reporting.” We considered both the quantitative and qualitative factors in evaluating the materiality of the errors and concluded that the errors are not material to the Fiscal 2008 and Fiscal 2009 financial statements. Accordingly, we have not restated our previously issued financial statements to correct these errors. However, as discussed below, the correction of these errors has been considered when adjusting the historical financial statements for the retrospective application of FSP APB 14-1.

In accordance with FSP APB 14-1, which requires retrospective application in all periods presented, the 1.125% Notes are separated into their debt and equity components. The carrying amount of the liability component is determined by measuring the fair value of a similar liability that does not have an associated equity component. The carrying amount of the equity component represented by the embedded conversion option is then determined by deducting the fair value of the liability component from the initial proceeds ascribed to the convertible debt instrument as a whole. Upon measuring the liability in accordance with FSP APB 14-1, we determined that the tax basis and book basis of the debt are substantially the same; therefore the effects of the aforementioned financial statement errors in Fiscal 2008 and 2009 related to deferred income taxes and income tax expense were substantially offset by the effects of adopting FSP APB 14-1.

The tables on the following pages reflect the effect of our correction of the error related to the accounting for deferred taxes for the purchased call option and the retrospective adoption of FSP APB 14-1 on our consolidated balance sheets and statements of operations for the periods indicated.
