Business Report for the 88th Fiscal Year

For the Period From: April 1, 2011 To: March 31, 2012

1. OUTLINE OF BUSINESS

(1) Review of Operations

Honda s consolidated revenue for the year amounted to $7,948.0 billion, a decrease of 11.1% from the previous fiscal year, primarily due to decreased revenue in the automobile business mainly caused by temporary suspension of production and production adjustments as a result of the Great East Japan Earthquake which occurred on March 11, 2011 (the Earthquake) as well as flooding in Thailand, and unfavorable foreign currency translation effects, despite increased revenue in the motorcycle business.

Consolidated operating income for the year totaled \(\frac{\text{231.3}}{231.3}\) billion, a decrease of 59.4% from the previous fiscal year, due primarily to a decrease in sales volume and model mix, increased R&D expenses and unfavorable foreign currency effects, despite decreased SG&A expenses. Consolidated income before income taxes and equity in income of affiliates for the year totaled \(\frac{\text{257.4}}{257.4}\) billion, a decrease of 59.2% from the previous fiscal year. Equity in income of affiliates amounted to \(\frac{\text{100.4}}{100.4}\) billion for the year, a decrease of 28.2% from the previous fiscal year.

Consolidated net income attributable to Honda Motor Co., Ltd. for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2012 totaled \(\frac{\text{\text{2}}}{211.4}\) billion, a decrease of 60.4% from the previous fiscal year. Basic net income attributable to Honda Motor Co., Ltd. per common share for the fiscal year amounted to \(\frac{\text{\text{\text{4}}}{117.34}}\), a decrease of \(\frac{\text{\text{\text{4}}}{178.33}}\) from \(\frac{\text{\text{2}}295.67}{295.67}\) for the previous fiscal year.

Motorcycles

Sales Volume and Profitability

With respect to Honda s motorcycle sales for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2012, unit sales of motorcycles totaled 12,559 thousand units, an increase of 9.7% from the previous fiscal year*, due mainly to increased unit sales in Asia and Other regions including South America. Revenue from sales to external customers increased 4.7%, to ¥1,348.8 billion from the previous fiscal year, primarily due to increased unit sales, despite unfavorable foreign currency translation effects. Operating income totaled ¥142.6 billion, an increase of 2.9% from the previous fiscal year, due primarily to an increase in sales units and model mix, despite the adverse impact of a one-time gain related to licensing agreements in the previous fiscal year, increased SG&A expenses and unfavorable foreign currency effects.

* Of the net sales of Honda-brand motorcycle products that are manufactured and sold by overseas affiliates accounted for under the equity method, those with respect to which parts for manufacturing were not supplied from Honda or its subsidiaries are not included in net sales and other operating revenue, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Accordingly, these unit sales are not included in the financial results.

Automobiles

Sales Volume and Profitability

Honda s unit sales of automobiles for the fiscal year totaled 3,137 thousand units, a decrease of 10.7% from the previous fiscal year, due mainly to decreased unit sales in all regions resulting from the Earthquake and flooding in Thailand. Revenue from sales to external customers decreased 14.5%, to \(\frac{1}{2}\), to \(\frac{1}{2}\), to \(\frac{1}{2}\), 805.9 billion from the previous fiscal year, due mainly to decreased unit sales and unfavorable foreign currency translation effects. Honda reported an operating loss of \(\frac{1}{2}\)77.2 billion, a decrease of \(\frac{1}{2}\)341.7 billion from the previous fiscal year, due primarily to a decrease in unit sales and model mix, and unfavorable foreign currency effects, despite decreased SG&A expenses.

^{} Certain sales of automobiles that are financed with residual value type auto loans by our domestic finance subsidiaries are accounted for as operating leases in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. 6. THE COMPANY S SYSTEMS AND POLICIES

The Company is engaged in designing Internal Control Systems according to the basic policy outlined in the following sections. Please note that at the meeting of the Board of Directors held on March 8, 2012, the name of the Business Ethics Committee was changed to the Compliance Committee, and the name of the Honda Crisis Response Rules was changed to the Honda Risk Management Regulations. Accompanying these changes in naming, as of April 1, 2012, the decision was made to revise the basic policy as follows.

 Systems for ensuring that the execution of duties by directors and employees complies with the law and the Company s Articles of Incorporation

The Company has prepared the Honda Conduct Guidelines which provide for conformity with applicable laws and internal rules and regulations as guidelines for conduct which should be shared by the Company s management and employees and implements measures to ensure that all management personnel and employees are made aware of and follow these guidelines. The Company establishes its compliance system such as by appointing a Compliance Officer, who is a director in charge of compliance-related initiatives and by establishing the Business Ethics Committee and the Business Ethics Improvement Proposal Line.

- 2. Systems related to retention and management of information on execution of duties by directors
 Information related to the execution of duties by directors, including minutes of Board of Directors meetings and other important meetings, is retained and stored appropriately in accordance with the Company s document management policy.
- 3. Regulations and other systems related to risk management Important management issues are taken up by the Board of Directors, Executive Council and/or Regional Operating Boards, which discuss them in accordance with established rules of procedure, assess associated risks, and make decisions after due consideration.

A Risk Management Officer is appointed as a director in charge of promoting risk management initiatives. The Risk Management Officer playing the main role, risk information is collected and evaluated (of these risks, significant risk is promptly reported to the division in charge along with instructions on the countermeasures, and its progress is then monitored). For large-scale disasters requiring Company-level crisis management, the Company organizes the system, such as by establishing the Corporate Crisis Management Policy and Honda Crisis Response Rules.

4. Systems for ensuring that the execution of duties by directors is being conducted efficiently

The Company has established a system for operating its organizational units that reflects its fundamental corporate philosophy. For example, separate headquarters have been set up for each region, business, and function, and an operating officer has been assigned to each headquarters and main division. In addition, we have implemented a system that enables prompt and appropriate decision making by having the Executive Council and Regional Operating Boards deliberate on important management issues.

To conduct management efficiently and effectively, business plans are prepared on an annual basis and for the medium term, and measures are taken to share these plans.

5. Systems for ensuring that the corporate group, comprised of the Company and its subsidiaries, conducts business activities appropriately The Company and its subsidiaries share the Honda Conduct Guidelines and basic policies regarding corporate governance. In addition, each subsidiary works to promote activities that are in compliance with the laws of countries in which they operate and practices observed in their respective industries as they endeavor to enhance corporate governance. The Company examines the state of internal control in each subsidiary, and confirms how the Internal Control Systems are established and operated, through enlightenment efforts with subsidiary directors and liaising with the compliance officer of each subsidiary. As for the business execution of the subsidiary, the Company helps with the establishment of account settlement rules. When it comes to important management issues, the Company requests the subsidiary to obtain prior approval from the Company or to report to the Company according to its internal rules. The business control division of the Company regularly receives reports on the subsidiary s business plans to confirm the appropriateness of the operation. The Business Ethics Office of the Company works with the proposal line of the subsidiary in an effort to support an appropriate and swift response to a risk or problem. The Audit Office, an independent unit supervising operations and directly reporting to the president and CEO, effectively supervises the state of work in progress at each division and subsidiary and works with the internal supervision division of subsidiaries, aiming at the completion of the internal supervision system in the Honda Group.

In the case of a company accounted for by the equity method, the Company works to improve corporate governance throughout the Group by seeking the understanding and cooperation of such companies with Honda s basic corporate governance policies.

6. Provision of employees when assistance is requested by corporate auditors and independence of such employees from directors The Corporate Auditors Office has been established as a supportive staff organization directly under the Board of Corporate Auditors to provide support to corporate auditors.

- 8. Other systems for ensuring the effectiveness of audits by corporate auditors
 Corporate auditors work closely with the Audit Office, which serves as the Company s internal audit department, to conduct business audits of the Company and its subsidiaries. Additionally, corporate auditors attend the Executive Council and other important meetings.

7. POLICY REGARDING DECISIONS FOR DISTRIBUTION OF DIVIDENDS, ETC.

The Company strives to carry out its operations worldwide from a global perspective and to increase its corporate value. With respect to the redistribution of profits to our shareholders, which we consider to be one of the most important management issues, the Company s basic policy for dividends is to make distributions after taking into account its long-term consolidated earnings performance.

The Company will also acquire its own shares at the optimal timing with the goal of improving efficiency of the Company s capital structure and implementing a flexible capital policy. The present goal is to maintain a shareholders—return ratio (i.e., the ratio of the total of the dividend payment and the repurchase of the Company—s own shares to net income attributable to Honda Motor Co., Ltd.) of approximately 30%. Retained earnings will be allocated toward financing R&D activities that are essential for the future growth of the Company and capital expenditures and investment programs that will expand its operations for the purpose of improving business results and strengthening the Company—s financial condition.

The Company plans to distribute year-end cash dividends of ¥15 per share for the year ended March 31, 2012. As a result, total cash dividends for the year ended March 31, 2012, together with the first quarter cash dividends of ¥15, the second quarter cash dividends of ¥15 and the third quarter cash dividends of ¥15, are planned to be ¥60 per share, an increase of ¥6 per share from the annual dividends paid for the year ended March 31, 2011.

Also, please note that the year-end cash dividends for the year ended March 31, 2012 is a matter to be resolved at the general meeting of shareholders.

Note on Financial Instruments:

Current Status of Financial Instruments

1. Policy Regarding Financial Instruments

The policy of Honda is to support its business activities by maintaining sufficient capital resources, a sufficient level of liquidity and a sound balance sheet. In its cash management activities, the Company invests principally in highly safe, short-term financial instruments. Honda meets its operating capital requirements primarily through cash generated by operations, bank loans and the issuance of commercial paper. In addition, the Company's finance subsidiaries fund those financial programs for customers and dealers primarily from bank loans, medium-term notes, commercial paper, corporate bonds, securitization of finance receivables and intercompany loans.

2. Risk Associated with Financial Instruments and Related Risk Management System

The Company reduces the credit risk arising from trade accounts and notes receivables and finance subsidiaries receivables by requiring compliance with its internal credit management regulations. To minimize the foreign currency fluctuation risk of the foreign currency denominated receivables, the Company enters into foreign currency forward exchange contracts and foreign currency purchased option contracts. Regarding the lease receivables held by the Company s finance subsidiaries, losses may be incurred when proceeds from the sale of the returned vehicles are less than the contractual residual value. The Company s finance subsidiaries periodically review the estimated residual value of the leased vehicles to monitor the residual value risk.

Available-for-sale securities mainly consist of equity securities. Held-to-maturity securities mainly consist of government and agency debt securities. In order to manage the price fluctuation risk, the Company periodically estimates the fair value of these securities.

To manage the liquidity risk associated with short-term and long-term debt, the Company diversifies its sources of funds. To reduce the interest rate fluctuation risk, the Company enters into interest rate swap contracts. To minimize the foreign currency fluctuation risk of the foreign currency denominated payables, the Company enters into currency swap contracts.

The Company enters into derivative contracts within the actual demand of its business activities in accordance with the risk management policy. The derivative instruments contain an element of risk in the event the counterparties are unable to meet the terms of the agreement. However, Honda minimizes the risk exposure by limiting the counterparties to major international banks and financial institutions meeting established credit guidelines.

The Company applies hedge accounting for certain foreign currency forward exchange contracts related to forecasted foreign currency transactions between the Company and its subsidiaries.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amount, estimated fair value and difference of financial instruments at March 31, 2012 are as follows: Yen (millions)

	Carrying Amount	Estimate Fair Value	Difference
Finance subsidiaries receivables	3,607,127	3,653,850	46,723
Available-for-sale securities	107,480	107,480
Held-to-maturity securities	16,647	16,711	64
Short-term and long-term debt	(4,111,244)	(4,176,361)	(65,117)
Derivative instruments	14,481	14,481

Note: The book value of the previously mentioned finance subsidiaries receivables excludes direct finance leases (net) from the amount of finance subsidiaries receivables appearing on the balance sheets. The amount of direct finance leases (net) at the end of the fiscal year under review was ¥357,308 million. Also, the previously mentioned finance subsidiaries receivables include the amount of finance subsidiaries receivables related to product sales, which is presented in the balance sheet items trade accounts and notes receivable and other assets. The amount of such finance subsidiaries receivables at the end of the fiscal year under review was ¥518,321 million. The methodologies used to estimate the fair value of financial instruments are as follows.

1. Cash and cash equivalents, trade accounts and notes receivables and notes and accounts payables. The carrying amounts approximate fair values because of the short maturity of these instruments.

2. Finance subsidiaries receivables

The fair values of retail receivables and term loans to dealers are estimated by discounting future cash flows using the current rates for these instruments of similar remaining maturities. Given the short maturities of wholesale flooring receivables, the carrying amount of those receivables approximates fair value.

3. Marketable equity securities

The fair value of marketable equity securities is estimated using quoted market prices. The fair value of auction rate securities is estimated by discounting future cash flows considering liquidity risk and other factors.

4. Held-to-maturity securities

The fair values of government bonds and U.S. government and agency debt securities were estimated by using quoted market prices. The carrying amount of certificates of deposit approximates fair value because of the short maturity of the instrument.

5. Short-term debt and long-term debt

The fair values of bonds and notes are estimated based on the quoted market prices for the same or similar issues. The fair value of long-term loans is estimated by discounting future cash flows using rates currently available for loans of similar terms and remaining maturities. The carrying amounts of short-term bank loans and commercial paper approximate fair values because of the short maturity of these instruments.

6. Derivative instruments

The Company holds foreign currency and interest rate derivative instruments. The fair values of foreign currency instruments are estimated based on foreign exchange rates, discount rates and implied volatility. The fair values of interest rate instruments are estimated by discounting future cash flows using LIBOR rates, swap rates and foreign exchange rates. The fair values of a limited number of interest rate swap agreements related to certain off-balance sheet securitizations are estimated using internally developed prepayment assumptions in order to forecast future notional amounts on these structured derivative contracts.

Non-marketable securities are excluded from the above table as it is not possible to estimate the future cash flow and it is deemed to be extremely difficult to measure the fair value. The carrying amount of non-marketable securities is ¥12,666 million at March 31, 2012.
