FULTON FINANCIAL CORPORATION*NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (UNAUDITED)*NOTE A Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements of Fulton Financial Corporation (the Corporation) have been prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles for interim financial information and with the instructions to Form 10-Q and Rule 10-01 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and notes required by U.S. generally accepted accounting principles for complete financial statements. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. Operating results for the three and six-month periods ended June 30, 2006 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending December 31, 2006.

NOTE B Net Income Per Share and Comprehensive Income

The Corporation's basic net income per share is calculated as net income divided by the weighted average number of shares outstanding. For diluted net income per share, net income is divided by the weighted average number of shares outstanding plus the incremental number of shares added as a result of converting common stock equivalents, calculated using the treasury stock method. The Corporation's common stock equivalents consist solely of outstanding stock options. Excluded from the calculation were 1.4 million anti-dilutive options for the three and six months ended June 30, 2006.

A reconciliation of the weighted average shares outstanding used to calculate basic net income per share and diluted net income per share follows:

	Three months ended		Six months ended
	June 30		June 30
	2006	2005	2006	2005
		(in thousands)
Weighted average shares outstanding (basic)	173,449	162,235	172,166	163,718
Impact of common stock equivalents	2,035	1,806	2,169	1,920
Weighted average shares outstanding (diluted)	175,484	164,041	174,335	165,638

Total comprehensive income was $31.5 million and $66.0 million for the three and six months ended June 30, 2006, respectively. Total comprehensive income was $54.9 million and $74.0 million for the three and six months ended June 30, 2005, respectively.

NOTE C Stock Dividend

The Corporation declared a 5% stock dividend on April 18, 2006, which was paid on June 8, 2006 to shareholders of record on May 19, 2006. All share and per-share information has been restated to reflect the impact of this stock dividend.

NOTE D Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information

The Corporation does not have any operating segments which require disclosure of additional information. While the Corporation owned fifteen separate banks as of June 30, 2006, each engaged in similar activities and provided similar products and services. The Corporation's non-banking activities are immaterial and, therefore, separate information has not been disclosed.

NOTE E Stock-Based Compensation

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No.123R, Share-Based Payment (Statement 123R), requires that the fair value of equity awards to employees be recognized as compensation expense over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for such award. During the third quarter of 2005, the Corporation adopted Statement 123R using modified retrospective application, electing to restate all prior periods including all per-share amounts. The Corporation's equity awards consist of stock options and restricted stock granted under its Stock Option and Compensation Plans (Option Plans) and shares purchased by employees under its Employee Stock Purchase Plan.

The following table presents compensation expense and the related tax impacts for equity awards recognized in the consolidated income statements:

	Three months ended June 30		Six months ended June 30
	2006	2005	2006	2005
	(in thousands)
Compensation expense	$ 342	$ 83	$ 686	$ 179
Tax expense (benefit)	14	(107)	(119)	(109)
Net income effect	$ 356	$ (24)	$ 567	$ 70

Under the Option Plans, options are granted to key personnel for terms of up to ten years at option prices equal to the fair market value of the Corporation's stock on the date of grant. Options are typically granted annually on July 31 and, prior to the July 1, 2005 grant, had been 100% vested immediately upon grant. For the July 1, 2005 grant, a three-year cliff-vesting feature was added. Certain events, as specified in the Option Plans and agreements, would result in the acceleration of the vesting period. As of June 30, 2006, the Option Plans had 14.9 million shares reserved for the future grants through 2013. On July 1, 2006, the Corporation granted approximately 840,000 options under its Option Plans.

NOTE F Employee Benefit Plans

The Corporation maintains a defined benefit pension plan (Pension Plan) for certain employees. Contributions to the Pension Plan are actuarially determined and funded annually. Pension Plan assets are invested in money markets; fixed income securities, including corporate bonds, U.S. Treasury securities and common trust funds; and equity securities, including common stocks and common stock mutual funds. The Pension Plan has been closed to new participants, but existing participants continue to accrue benefits according to the terms of the plan. The Corporation expects to contribute approximately $4.1 million to the Pension Plan in 2006.

The Corporation currently provides medical and life insurance benefits under a post-retirement benefits plan (Post-Retirement Plan) to certain retired full-time employees who were employees of the Corporation prior to January 1, 1998. Other certain full-time employees may become eligible for these discretionary benefits if they reach retirement age while working for the Corporation. Benefits are based on a graduated scale for years of service after attaining the age of 40.

The net periodic benefit cost for the Corporation's Pension Plan and Post-Retirement Plan, as determined by consulting actuaries, consisted of the following components for the three and six-month periods ended June 30:

	Pension Plan

NOTE G Acquisitions

On February 1, 2006, the Corporation completed its acquisition of Columbia Bancorp (Columbia) of Columbia, Maryland. Columbia was a $1.3 billion bank holding company whose primary subsidiary was The Columbia Bank, which operates 20 full-service community-banking offices and five retirement community offices in Howard, Montgomery, Prince George's and Baltimore Counties and Baltimore City.

Under the terms of the merger agreement, each of the approximately 6.9 million shares of Columbia's common stock was acquired by the Corporation based on a cash election merger structure. Each Columbia shareholder elected to receive 100% of the merger consideration in stock, 100% in cash, or a combination of stock and cash.

As a result of Columbia shareholder elections, approximately 3.5 million of the Columbia shares outstanding on the acquisition date were converted into shares of the Corporation's common stock, based upon a fixed exchange ratio of 2.441 shares of Corporation stock for each share of Columbia stock. The remaining 3.4 million shares of Columbia stock were purchased for $42.48 per share. In addition, each of the options to acquire Columbia's stock was converted into options to purchase the Corporation's stock or was settled in cash, based on the election of each option holder and the terms of the merger agreement. The total purchase price was approximately $305.9 million, including $154.1 million in stock issued and stock options assumed, $149.4 million of Columbia stock purchased and options settled for cash and $2.4 million for other direct acquisition costs. The purchase price for shares issued was determined based on the value of the Corporation's stock on the date when the number of shares was fixed and determinable.

As a result of the acquisition, Columbia was merged into the Corporation, and The Columbia Bank became a wholly owned subsidiary. The acquisition was accounted for using purchase accounting, which requires the Corporation to allocate the total purchase price of the acquisition to the assets acquired and liabilities assumed, based on their respective fair values at the acquisition date, with any remaining purchase price being recorded as goodwill. Resulting goodwill balances are then subject to an impairment review on at least an annual basis. The results of Columbia's operations are included in the Corporation's financial statements prospectively from the February 1, 2006 acquisition date.

On July 1, 2005, the Corporation completed its acquisition of SVB Financial Services, Inc. (SVB). SVB was a $530 million bank holding company whose primary subsidiary was Somerset Valley Bank, which operates thirteen community-banking offices in Somerset, Hunterdon and Middlesex Counties in New Jersey. The total purchase price was $90.4 million, including $66.6 million in stock issued and options assumed, $22.4 million in SVB stock purchased and options settled for cash and $1.4 million in other direct acquisition costs.

The following table summarizes unaudited pro-forma information assuming the acquisitions of Columbia and SVB had occurred on January 1, 2005. NOTE H Derivative Financial Instruments

As of June 30, 2006, interest rate swaps with a notional amount of $300.0 million were used to hedge certain long-term fixed rate certificates of deposit. The terms of the certificates of deposit and the interest rate swaps mirror each other and were committed to simultaneously. Under the terms of the swap agreements, the Corporation is the fixed rate receiver and the floating rate payer (generally tied to the three month London Interbank Offering Rate, or LIBOR, a common index used for setting rates between financial institutions). The interest rate swaps are classified as fair value hedges and both the interest rate swaps and the certificates of deposit are recorded at fair value, with changes in the fair values during the period recorded as income or expense. For interest rate swaps accounted for as a fair value hedge, ineffectiveness is the difference between the changes in the fair value of the interest rate swap and the hedged item, in this case the certificates of deposit.

The Corporation's analysis of hedge effectiveness indicated they were highly effective as of June 30, 2006. For the three and six months ended June 30, 2006, net charges of $94,000 and $155,000, respectively, were recorded to expense representing the net impact of the change in fair values of the interest rate swaps and the certificates of deposit.

The Corporation entered into a forward-starting interest rate swap with a notional amount of $150.0 million in October 2005 in anticipation of the issuance of $150.0 million of trust preferred securities in January 2006. This was accounted for as a cash flow hedge as it hedged the variability of interest payments attributable to changes in interest rates on the forecasted issuance of fixed-rate debt. As of December 31, 2005, $2.2 million had been recorded as an other comprehensive loss representing the estimated fair value of the swap on that date, net of a $1.2 million tax effect. The Corporation settled this derivative on its contractual maturity date in January 2006 with a total payment of $5.5 million to the counterparty that resulted in an additional $1.4 million charge to other comprehensive loss (net of $751,000 tax effect) during the first quarter of 2006. The total amount recorded in other comprehensive loss is being amortized to interest expense over the life of the related securities using the effective interest method. The total amount of net losses in accumulated other comprehensive income that will be reclassified into earnings during the next twelve months is expected to be approximately $185,000.

NOTE I Commitments and Contingencies

The Corporation is a party to financial instruments with off-balance sheet risk in the normal course of business to meet the financing needs of its customers. Those financial instruments include commitments to extend credit and letters of credit, which involve, to varying degrees, elements of credit and interest rate risk in excess of the amounts recognized in the Corporation's Consolidated Balance Sheets. Exposure to credit loss in the event of nonperformance by the other party to the financial instrument for commitments to extend credit and letters of credit is represented by the outstanding amount of those instruments.

The outstanding amounts of commitments to extend credit and letters of credit were as follows:

	June 30
	2006	2005
	(in thousands)
Commitments to extend credit	4,245,908	3,556,674
Standby letters of credit	726,944	548,713
Commercial letters of credit	30,181	21,471

From time to time, the Corporation and its subsidiary banks may be defendants in legal proceedings relating to the conduct of their banking business. Most of such legal proceedings are a normal part of the banking business and, in management's opinion, the financial position and results of operations and cash flows of the Corporation would not be affected materially by the outcome of such legal proceedings.

NOTE J Stock Repurchases

In 2005, the Corporation purchased 4.5 million shares of its common stock from an investment bank at a total cost of $73.6 million under an Accelerated Share Repurchase program (ASR), which allowed the shares to be purchased immediately rather than over time. The investment bank, in turn, repurchased shares on the open market over a period that was determined by the average daily trading volume of the Corporation's shares, among other factors. The Corporation completed the ASR in February 2006 and settled its position with the investment bank by paying $3.4 million, representing the difference between the initial payment and the actual total price of the shares repurchased.

In March 2006, the Corporation's Board of Directors approved a stock repurchase plan for 2.1 million shares through December 31, 2006. Repurchases under this plan will occur through open market acquisitions. During the three and six months ended June 30, 2006, 1.0 million and 1.1 million shares were repurchased under this plan, respectively.

NOTE K Long-Term Debt

In January 2006, the Corporation purchased all of the common stock of a subsidiary trust, Fulton Capital Trust I, which was formed for the purpose of issuing $150.0 million of trust preferred securities at a fixed rate of 6.29% and an effective rate of approximately 6.50% as a result of issuance costs and the settlement cost of the forward-starting interest rate swap. In connection with this transaction, $154.6 million of junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures were issued to the trust. These debentures carry the same rate and mature on February 1, 2036.

NOTE L New Accounting Standard

In June 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes (FIN 48). The interpretation clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in an enterprise's financial statements in accordance with FASB Statement No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes. Specifically, the interpretation prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. The Corporation is currently evaluating the impact of FIN 48 on the consolidated financial statements.

NOTE M Reclassifications

Certain amounts in the 2005 consolidated financial statements and notes have been reclassified to conform to the 2006 presentation.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations (Management's Discussion) concerns Fulton Financial Corporation (the Corporation), a financial holding company incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1982, and its wholly owned subsidiaries. This discussion and analysis should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes presented in this report.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

The Corporation has made, and may continue to make, certain forward-looking statements with respect to its acquisition and growth strategies, management of net interest income and margin, the ability to realize gains on equity investments, allowance and provision for loan losses, expected levels of certain non-interest expenses and the liquidity position of the Corporation and Parent Company. The Corporation cautions that these forward-looking statements are subject to various assumptions, risks and uncertainties. Because of the possibility of changes in these assumptions, risks and uncertainties, actual results could differ materially from forward-looking statements.

In addition to the factors identified herein, the following risk factors could cause actual results to differ materially from such forward-looking statements:

Changes in interest rates may have an adverse effect on the Corporation's profitability.

Changes in economic conditions and the composition of the Corporation's loan portfolios could lead to higher loan charge-offs or an increase in the allowance for loan losses and may reduce the Corporation's income.

Fluctuations in the value of the Corporation's equity portfolio, or assets under management by the Corporation's trust and investment management services, could have a material impact on the Corporation's results of operations.

If the Corporation is unable to acquire additional banks on favorable terms or if it fails to successfully integrate or improve the operations of acquired banks, the Corporation may be unable to execute its growth strategies.

If the goodwill that the Corporation has recorded in connection with its acquisitions becomes impaired, it could have a negative impact on the Corporation's profitability.

The competition the Corporation faces is increasing and may reduce the Corporation's customer base and negatively impact the Corporation's results of operations.

The supervision and regulation by various regulatory authorities to which the Corporation is subject can be a competitive disadvantage.

The Corporation's forward-looking statements are relevant only as of the date on which such statements are made. By making any forward-looking statements, the Corporation assumes no duty to update them to reflect new, changing or unanticipated events or circumstances.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Overview

The Corporation currently derives the majority of its earnings from traditional banking activities, with net interest income, or the difference between interest income earned on loans and investments and interest paid on deposits and borrowings, accounting for approximately 78% of revenues for the three and six months ended June 30, 2006. Growth in net interest income is dependent upon balance sheet growth or increasing the net interest margin, which is net interest income as a percentage of average interest-earning assets. The Corporation also generates revenue through fees earned on the various services and products offered to its customers and through sales of assets, such as loans, investments, or properties. Offsetting these revenue sources are provisions for credit losses on loans, other operating expenses and income taxes.

The Corporation's net income for the second quarter of 2006 increased $5.1 million, or 12.3%, from $41.6 million in 2005 to $46.7 million in 2006. Net income for the first half of 2006 increased $7.5 million, or 9.1%, from $83.0 million in 2005 to $90.6 million in 2006. Diluted net income per share for the second quarter increased $0.02, or 8.0%, from $0.25 in 2005 to $0.27 in 2006. For the first half of 2006, diluted net income per share increased $0.02 per share, or 4.0%, from $0.50 in 2005 to $0.52 in 2006. The Corporation realized annualized returns on average assets of 1.32% and average equity of 13.01% during the second quarter of 2006. For the first half of 2006, the Corporation realized annualized returns on average assets of 1.32% and average equity of 12.92%. The annualized return on average tangible equity, which is net income, as adjusted for intangible amortization (net of tax), divided by average shareholders' equity, excluding goodwill and intangible assets, was 24.87% and 23.93% for the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2006, respectively.

The increase in net income compared to the second quarter of 2005 resulted from a $22.9 million, or 22.9%, increase in net interest income due primarily to external growth through acquisitions, offset by a decline in net interest margin. The increase in net interest income was also offset by a $2.3 million decrease in other income, a $12.6 million increase in other expenses and a $2.8 million increase in income taxes.

For the first half of 2006, the increase in net income compared to the first half of 2005 resulted from a $39.7 million, or 20.0%, increase in net interest income also due primarily to acquisitions, offset by a slight decline in net interest margin and an increase in other expenses of $26.8 million. The increase in earnings was further offset by a $3.5 million increase in income taxes and a $1.6 million decrease in other income.

The following summarizes some of the more significant factors that influenced the Corporation's results for the three and six months ended June 30, 2006.

Interest Rates Changes in the interest rate environment generally impact both the Corporation's net interest income and certain components of its non-interest income. The interest rate environment refers to the level of rates and the slope of the U. S. Treasury yield curve, which plots the yields on treasury issues over various maturity periods. Typically, the shape of the yield curve is upward sloping, with longer-term rates exceeding short-term rates. However, during the three and six months ended June 30, 2006, the yield curve was relatively flat, with minimal differences between long and short-term rates, resulting in a negative impact to the Corporation's net interest income. Floating rate loans, short-term borrowings and savings and time deposit rates are generally influenced by short-term rates. The Federal Reserve Board (FRB) raised the Federal funds rate eight times since June 30, 2005, for a total increase of 200 basis points (from 3.25% to 5.25%). The Corporation's prime lending rate had a corresponding increase, from 6.25% to 8.25%, resulting in an increase in the rates on floating rate loans as well as the rates on new fixed-rate loans. However, the increase in short-term rates also resulted in increased funding costs, with short-term borrowings immediately repricing to higher rates and deposit rates although more discretionary increasing due to competitive pressures. In addition, as rates have increased, customers have begun to shift funds from lower rate core demand and savings accounts to fixed rate certificates of deposit in order to lock into higher rates. The increase in rates on deposits and borrowings was more pronounced than loans and other earning assets and, as a result, the Corporation realized a decline in net interest margin in the three and six months ended June 30, 2006 compared to 2005.

With respect to longer-term rates, the 10-year treasury yield, which is a common benchmark for evaluating residential mortgage rates, increased to 5.15% at June 30, 2006, as compared to 3.94% at June 30, 2005. Higher mortgage rates have resulted in slower refinance activity, origination volumes and lower margins and, therefore, lower total net gains for the Corporation on fixed-rate residential mortgages which are generally sold in the secondary market.

The Corporation manages its risk associated with changes in interest rates through the techniques described in the Market Risk section of Management's Discussion.

Acquisitions In February 2006, the Corporation acquired Columbia Bancorp (Columbia), of Columbia, Maryland, a $1.3 billion bank holding company whose primary subsidiary was The Columbia Bank. In July 2005, the Corporation acquired SVB Financial Services, Inc. (SVB) of Somerville, New Jersey, a $530 million bank holding company whose primary subsidiary was Somerset Valley Bank. Results for 2006 in comparison to 2005 were impacted by these acquisitions, as documented in the appropriate sections of Management's Discussion.

Acquisitions have long been a supplement to the Corporation's internal growth. These recent acquisitions provide the opportunity for additional growth, as they will allow the Corporation's existing products and services to be sold in new markets. The Corporation's acquisition strategy focuses on high growth areas with strong market demographics and targets organizations that have a comparable corporate culture, strong performance and good asset quality, among other factors. Under the Corporation's super-community banking philosophy, acquired organizations generally retain their status as separate legal entities, unless consolidation with an existing affiliate bank is practical. Back office functions are generally consolidated to maximize efficiencies.

Merger and acquisition activity in the financial services industry has been very competitive in recent years, as evidenced by the prices paid for certain acquisitions. While the Corporation has been an active acquirer, management is committed to basing its pricing on rational economic models. Management will continue to focus on generating growth in the most cost-effective manner.

Merger and acquisition activity has also impacted the Corporation's capital and liquidity. In order to complete acquisitions, the Corporation implemented strategies to maintain appropriate levels of capital and to provide necessary cash resources. In January 2006, the Corporation issued $154.6 million of junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures in order to fund the Columbia acquisition. See additional information in the Liquidity section of Management's Discussion.

Earning Assets The Corporation's interest-earning assets increased from 2005 to 2006 through a combination of acquisitions and internal loan growth.

During the second quarter of 2006, the Corporation experienced a slight shift in its composition of interest-earning assets from investments (21.8% of total average interest-earning assets in 2006, compared to 23.3% in 2005) to loans (76.1% in 2006, compared to 74.0% in 2005). For the six months ended June 30, 2006, a similar shift in the composition of interest-earning assets from investments (22.2% in 2006, compared to 23.6% in 2005) to loans (75.7% in 2006, compared to 74.1% in 2005) occurred. The movement to higher-yielding loans has mitigated some of the factors that have had a negative effect on the Corporation's net interest income and net interest margin. Slower growth in loans could result in a future shift in the composition of interest-earning assets from loans to investments.

Asset Quality Asset quality refers to the underlying credit characteristics of borrowers and the likelihood that defaults on contractual payments will result in charge-offs of account balances. Asset quality is influenced by economic conditions and other factors, but can be managed through conservative underwriting and sound collection policies and procedures.

The Corporation continued to maintain excellent asset quality throughout the first half of 2006, attributable to its credit culture and underwriting policies as well as general economic conditions.

Annualized net charge-offs to average loans were consistent at 0.02% in the second quarter and first half of 2006 and 2005. While overall asset quality has remained strong, deterioration in quality of one or several significant accounts could have a detrimental impact and result in losses that may not be foreseeable based on current information. In addition, rising interest rates could increase the total payments of borrowers and could have a negative impact on the ability of some to pay according to the terms of their loans.

Equity Markets As noted in the Market Risk section of Management's Discussion, equity valuations can have an impact on the Corporation's financial performance. In particular, bank stocks account for a significant portion of the Corporation's equity investment portfolio. Historically, gains on sales of these equities have been a recurring component of the Corporation's earnings, although realized gains have decreased in recent periods. Declines in bank stock portfolio values could have a detrimental impact on the Corporation's ability to recognize gains in the future.

Quarter Ended June 30, 2006 versus Quarter Ended June 30, 2005

Results for the second quarter of 2006 compared to the results of the second quarter of 2005 were impacted by the February 2006 acquisition of Columbia and the July 2005 acquisition of SVB, whose results are included in 2006 amounts, but not in 2005.

Net Interest Income

Net interest income increased $22.9 million, or 22.9%, to $122.9 million in 2006 from $99.9 million in 2005. The increase was due to average balance growth, with total interest-earning assets increasing 23.7%, offset by a slightly lower net interest margin. The average fully taxable-equivalent (FTE) yield on interest-earning assets increased 91 basis points (a 15.7% increase) over 2005 while the cost of interest-bearing liabilities increased 107 basis points (a 46.7% increase). Due to the more pronounced increase in costs of interest-bearing liabilities, the net interest margin decreased two basis points. The Corporation continues to manage its asset/liability position and interest rate risk through the methods as described in the Market Risk section of Management's Discussion.

The following table provides a comparative average balance sheet and net interest income analysis for the second quarter of 2006 as compared to the same period in 2005. Interest income and yields are presented on an FTE basis, using a 35% Federal tax rate. The discussion following this table is based on these FTE amounts. All dollar amounts are in thousands.

Interest income increased $65.2 million, or 43.2%, primarily due to increases in average balances of interest-earning assets and partially due to increases in rates. Interest income increased $40.7 million as a result of a $2.5 billion, or 23.7%, increase in average balances, while an increase of $24.5 million was realized from the 91 basis point increase in rates.

The increase in average interest-earning assets was primarily due to loan growth. Average loans increased $2.1 billion, or 27.1%. The following summarizes the growth in average loans, by type:

Excluding the impact of acquisitions, loan growth was particularly strong in the commercial mortgage and construction categories, which together increased $449.1 million, or 13.9%. Commercial loans increased $143.6 million, or 6.3%. The remaining growth in loans was due to residential mortgage and home equity loans increasing $94.8 million, or 5.6%, primarily due to increases in home equity loans.

The average yield on loans during the second quarter of 2006 was 7.37%, a 99 basis point, or 15.5%, increase over 2005. This mainly reflects the impact of floating and adjustable rate loans, which reprice to higher rates when interest rates rise, as they have over the past twelve months.

Average investment securities increased $386.6 million, or 15.9%. Excluding the impact of acquisitions, this increase was $32.2 million, or 1.3%, funded by both reinvestments of maturities and increased borrowings. The average yield on investment securities increased 40 basis points from 3.92% in 2005 to 4.32% in 2006.

Interest expense increased $41.7 million, or 85.6%, to $90.4 million in the second quarter of 2006 from $48.7 million in the second quarter of 2005. Interest expense increased $16.6 million due to a $2.2 billion, or 26.4%, increase in average balances and $25.1 million due to the 107 basis point, or 46.7%, increase in the cost of total interest-bearing liabilities. The cost of interest-bearing deposits increased 99 basis points, or 51.6%, from 1.92% in 2005 to 2.91% in 2006. This increase was due to customers becoming increasingly price-sensitive and shifting from core demand and savings accounts to higher cost certificates of deposit, a trend that may continue throughout the second half of the year.

Average borrowings increased $588.9 million from the second quarter of 2005. Excluding the impact of acquisitions, average short-term borrowings increased $221.4 million, or 18.7%, to $1.4 billion, while average long-term debt increased $132.7 million, or 15.7%, to $976.4 million. The increase in short-term borrowings was mainly due to an increase in Federal funds purchased to fund investment purchases and loan growth, offset by lower borrowings outstanding under repurchase agreements. The increase in long-term debt was primarily due to the issuance of $154.6 million of junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures in connection with the Columbia acquisition, offset by lower Federal Home Loan Bank (FHLB) advances.

Approximately $4.5 billion, or 44.5%, of the Corporation's loan portfolio was in commercial mortgage and construction loans at June 30, 2006, compared to 41.7% at June 30, 2005. While the Corporation does not have a concentration of credit risk with any single borrower, repayments on loans in these portfolios can be negatively influenced by decreases in real estate values. The Corporation mitigates this risk through stringent underwriting policies and procedures. In addition, approximately 60% of commercial mortgages were owner-occupied as of June 30, 2006. These types of loans are generally less risky than non-owner-occupied mortgages. Construction loans at June 30, 2006 consisted of approximately 60% builder and land acquisition loans, 20% residential construction and 20% commercial or multi-family construction.

The following table presents the activity in the Corporation's allowance for loan losses:

The provision for loan losses for the second quarter of 2006 totaled $875,000, an increase of $150,000, or 20.7%, from the same period in 2005. Net charge-offs totaled $526,000, or 0.02% of average loans on an annualized basis, during the second quarter of 2006, a $76,000 increase over a $450,000, or 0.02%, in net charge-offs for the second quarter of 2005. Non-performing assets increased to $42.8 million, or 0.29% of total assets, at June 30, 2006, from $31.8 million, or 0.27% of total assets, at June 30, 2005. While total non-performing assets increased $11.1 million in comparison to 2005, this is not an indication of a deterioration in credit quality as non-performings as a percent of total assets increased only two basis points. Total non-performing assets decreased $4.8 million from December 31, 2005.

Management believes that the allowance balance of $106.5 million at June 30, 2006 is sufficient to cover losses inherent in the loan portfolio on that date and is appropriate based on applicable accounting standards.

Total	$ 34,261	$ 38,315	$ (4,054)	(10.6)%

The discussion that follows addresses changes in other income, excluding the acquisitions of Columbia and SVB. Excluding investment securities gains, total other income decreased $4.1 million, or 11.0%, primarily due to a $2.2 million non-recurring gain on the sale of deposits in the second quarter of 2005, and gains on sales of mortgage loans. The reduction in gains on sales of mortgage loans resulted from the increase in longer-term mortgage rates and lower spreads on sales.

The decrease in investment management and trust services was due to a reduction in brokerage revenue, offset slightly by increased trust commission income. Brokerage revenue decreased $258,000, or 8.0%, mainly due to lower sales of fixed rate annuities as higher rates made alternative investments, such as certificates of deposit, more attractive.

The increase in service charges on deposit accounts was due to increases of $332,000 and $278,000 in cash management fees and overdraft fees, respectively, offset by a $352,000 decrease in other service charges on deposit accounts. The decrease in other service charges and fees was due to decrease in merchant fees ($1.2 million, or 42.1%) due to a one-time increase in the second quarter of 2005, offset by increases in debit card fees ($243,000, or 15.0%) and letter of credit fees ($68,000, or 5.6%).

Total	$ 76,796	$ 78,189	$ (1,393)	(1.8)%

The discussion that follows addresses changes in other expenses, excluding the acquisitions of Columbia and SVB. The increase in salaries and employee benefits resulted from the salary expense component increasing $873,000, or 2.4%, driven by an increase in total average full-time equivalent employees and normal increases for existing employees, offset by decreased incentive compensation costs. Employee benefits also increased $145,000, or 1.6%, in comparison to the second quarter of 2005 due to increases in healthcare costs, offset by a decrease in expenses related to the Corporation's defined benefit pension plan.

The increase in occupancy expense resulted from increased depreciation of real property and higher maintenance and utility costs in the second quarter of 2006 in comparison to 2005. The decrease in data processing expense, which consists mainly of fees paid for outsourced back office systems, was mainly due to the renegotiation of key processing contracts with certain vendors, most notably an automated teller service provider. The decrease in other expenses was mainly due to the timing of certain expenses recorded in the second quarter of 2005 and approximately $700,000 of certain expense recoveries related to non-accrual loans in 2006.

Income Taxes

Income tax expense for the second quarter of 2006 was $20.5 million, a $2.8 million, or 15.6%, increase from $17.7 million in 2005. The Corporation's effective tax rate was approximately 30.5% in 2006, as compared to 29.9% in 2005. The effective rate is lower than the Federal statutory rate of 35% due mainly to investments in tax-free municipal securities and federal tax credits from investments in low and moderate-income housing partnerships.

Six Months Ended June 30, 2006 versus Six Months Ended June 30, 2005

Results for the first half of 2006 compared to the results for the first half of 2005 were impacted by the February 2006 acquisition of Columbia and the July 2005 acquisition of SVB, whose results are included in 2006 amounts, but not in 2005.

Net Interest Income

Net interest income increased $39.7 million, or 20.0%, to $237.9 million in 2006 from $198.2 million in 2005. The increase was due to average balance growth, with total interest-earning assets increasing 21.6%, offset by a lower net interest margin. The average FTE yield on interest-earning assets increased 85 basis points (a 14.9% increase) over 2005 while the cost of interest-bearing liabilities increased 104 basis points (a 47.5% increase). The higher increase in the cost of interest-bearing liabilities resulted in a five basis point decrease in net interest margin. The Corporation continues to manage its asset/liability position and interest rate risk through the methods discussed in the Market Risk section of Management's Discussion.

The following table provides a comparative average balance sheet and net interest income analysis for the first six months of 2006 as compared to the same period in 2005. Interest income and yields are presented on an FTE basis, using a 35% Federal tax rate. The discussion following this table is based on these FTE amounts. All dollar amounts are in thousands.

Interest income increased $117.3 million, or 39.9%, primarily as a result of increases in average balances of interest-earning assets and partially as a result of increases in rates. Interest income increased $72.1 million as a result of a $2.2 billion, or 21.6%, increase in average balances, while an increase of $45.2 million was realized from the 85 basis point increase in rates.

The increase in average interest-earning assets was primarily due to loan growth. Average loans increased $1.9 billion, or 24.3%. The following summarizes the growth in average loans, by type:

Excluding the impact of acquisitions, loan growth was particularly strong in the commercial mortgage and construction categories, which together increased $465.1 million, or 14.7%. Commercial loans increased $86.8 million, or 3.8%. Residential mortgage and home equity loans increased $84.6 million, or 5.1%, entirely due to increases in home equity loans.

The average yield on loans during the first half of 2006 was 7.24%, a 94 basis point, or 14.9%, increase over 2005.

This increase in the average yield on loans reflects the impact of a significant portfolio of floating rate loans, which immediately repriced to higher rates when interest rates rise, as they have over the past twelve months.

Average investment securities increased $354.5 million, or 14.5%. Excluding the impact of acquisitions, this increase was $41.8 million, or 1.7%, funded by both reinvestments of maturities and increased borrowings. The average yield on investment securities increased 35 basis points from 3.93% in 2005 to 4.28% in 2006.

Interest expense increased $76.7 million, or 84.1%, to $168.0 million in the first half of 2006 from $91.2 million in the first half of 2005. Interest expense increased $28.9 million due to a $2.0 billion, or 24.3%, increase in average balances and $47.8 million due to a 104 basis point, or 47.5%, increase in the cost of total interest-bearing liabilities. The cost of interest-bearing deposits increased 94 basis points, or 51.1%, from 1.84% in 2005 to 2.78% in 2006. This increase was due to rising rates in general as a result of the FRB's rate increases over the past twelve months. Additional increases have resulted from customers becoming increasingly price-sensitive and shifting from core demand and savings accounts to higher cost certificates of deposits.

Average borrowings increased $574.5 million from the first half of 2005. Excluding the impact of acquisitions, average short-term borrowings increased $166.6 million, or 13.8%, to $1.4 billion, while average long-term debt increased $206.9 million, or 27.1%, to $971.0 million. The increase in short-term borrowings was mainly due to an increase in Federal funds purchased to fund investment purchases and loan growth, offset by lower borrowings outstanding under repurchase agreements. The increase in long-term debt was primarily due to the issuance of $154.6 million of junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures in connection with the Columbia acquisition and the impact of $100.0 million of subordinated debt issued and outstanding since March 2005.

Net charge-offs totaled $1.2 million, or 0.02% of average loans on an annualized basis, during the first half of 2006, a $419,000 increase over $750,000, or 0.02%, in net charge-offs for the first half of 2005.

Excluding investment securities gains, which decreased $655,000 in the first half of 2006 to $4.1 million, total other income decreased $3.9 million, or 5.6%, as slight growth in fee income was more than offset by decreases resulting from a $2.2 million non-recurring gain on the sale of deposits in the second quarter of 2005, and decreased gains on sales of mortgage loans. The decrease in gains on sales of mortgage loans resulted from the increase in longer-term mortgage rates and lower margins.

The increase in investment management and trust services was due to increases in both brokerage revenue and trust commission income. Trust commission income increased $489,000, or 4.3%, while brokerage revenue increased $183,000, or 2.7%.

The increase in service charges on deposit accounts was due to increases of $668,000 and $594,000 in overdraft fees and cash management fees, respectively, offset by a $555,000 decrease in other service charges on deposit accounts, primarily related to lower fees earned on non-interest and interest-bearing demand accounts.

Investment securities gains decreased $655,000, or 13.8%. Investment securities gains during the first half of 2006 consisted of net realized gains of $4.1 million on the sale of equity securities. Investment securities gains during the first half of 2005 consisted of net realized gains of $3.9 million on the sale of equity securities and $845,000 on the sale of available for sale debt securities.

The discussion that follows addresses changes in other expenses, excluding the acquisitions of Columbia and SVB. The increase in salaries and employee benefits resulted from an increase in the salary expense component of $1.5 million, or 2.1%, driven by an increase in total average full-time equivalent employees and normal increases for existing employees, offset by a decrease in incentive compensation costs. This increase was offset by a slight decrease in employee benefits of $42,000, or 0.2%, in comparison to the first half of 2005 due to a reduction in healthcare costs as a result of a favorable claims experience and decreases in expenses related to the Corporation's defined benefit pension plan, offset by an increase in other employee benefits.

The decrease in data processing expense, which consists mainly of fees paid for outsourced back office systems, was mainly due to the renegotiation of key processing contracts with certain vendors, most notably an automated teller service provider.

The increase in other expenses during the first half of 2006 was mainly the result of a $1.6 million expense related to the reserve for losses associated with the settlement of a previously reported lawsuit, partially offset by certain expense recoveries related to non-accrual loans in the second quarter of 2006.

Income Taxes

Income tax expense for the first half of 2006 was $39.2 million, a $3.5 million, or 9.7%, increase from $35.8 million in 2005. The Corporation's effective tax rate was approximately 30.2% in the first half of 2006, as compared to 30.1% in 2005. The effective rate is lower than the Federal statutory rate of 35% due mainly to investments in tax-free municipal securities and federal tax credits from investments in low and moderate-income housing partnerships.

FINANCIAL CONDITION

Total assets of the Corporation increased $2.2 billion, or 17.4%, to $14.6 billion at June 30, 2006, compared to $12.4 billion at December 31, 2005. The acquisition of Columbia added $1.5 billion to total assets. Excluding the acquisition of Columbia, the increase in total assets was mainly attributable to an increase in loans ($561.6 million, or 6.7%) and investment securities ($104.1 million, or 4.0%).

Unless otherwise noted, the discussion that follows addresses the changes in the consolidated balance sheet excluding the impact of the Columbia acquisition. See Note G, Acquisitions in the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements for a summary of the balances recorded for Columbia.

The Corporation experienced strong loan growth across all loan types, excluding consumer loans, due to continued favorable economic conditions. Commercial loans and mortgages increased $326.0 million, or 6.3%, construction loans grew $121.7 million, or 14.3%, and residential mortgages and home equity loans increased $104.7 million, or 5.9%. Consumer loans decreased $2.4 million, or 0.5%.

Despite strong loan growth, funds provided by increases in deposits and borrowings exceeded net funds used for new loans during the first half of 2006. These excess funds were generally used to purchase investment securities.

Deposits increased $372.9 million, or 4.2%, from December 31, 2005. Savings deposits increased $87.3 million, or 4.1%, while interest-bearing demand deposits decreased $72.0 million, or 4.4%, and noninterest-bearing deposits decreased $11.5 million, or 0.7%. Time deposits increased $369.1 million, or 11.0%, reflecting a significant shift by customers as rates on time deposits increased due to competitive pressures resulting from the FRB's four short-term interest rate increases during the first half of 2006.

Short-term borrowings, which consist mainly of Federal funds purchased and customer cash management accounts, increased $282.7 million, or 21.8%, during the first half of 2006. This increase was mainly due to an increase in Federal funds purchased and increased borrowings outstanding under the Corporation's revolving line of credit, offset by reduced borrowings outstanding under repurchase agreements. Long-term debt increased $83.7 million, or 9.7%, primarily due to the Corporation's issuance of $154.6 million of junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures in January 2006, offset by decreased FHLB advances. See the Liquidity section of Management's Discussion for a summary of the terms of the junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures.

Capital Resources

Total shareholders' equity increased $157.2 million, or 12.3%, during the first half of 2006. Stock issued in connection with the acquisition of Columbia accounted for $154.1 million, or 98.0%, of the increase. In addition, equity increased due to net income of $90.6 million, offset by $49.8 million in cash dividends to shareholders, $24.6 million in other comprehensive losses and $16.7 million in treasury stock purchases.

The Corporation periodically implements stock repurchase plans for various corporate purposes. In addition to evaluating the financial benefits of implementing repurchase plans, management also considers liquidity needs, the current market price per share and regulatory limitations.

Under an Accelerated Share Repurchase program (ASR), the Corporation repurchases shares immediately from an investment bank rather than over time. The investment bank, in turn, repurchases shares on the open market over a period that is determined by the average daily trading volume of the Corporation's shares, among other factors. For the ASR that was implemented in the second quarter of 2005, the Corporation settled its position with the investment bank during the first quarter of 2006 at the termination of the ASR by paying the investment bank a total of $3.4 million, representing the difference between the initial price paid and the actual price of the shares repurchased. In March 2006, the Corporation's Board of Directors approved a stock repurchase plan for 2.1 million shares through December 31, 2006. The Corporation expects to purchase these shares through open market acquisitions. During the first half of 2006, 1.1 million shares were repurchased under this plan.

The Corporation and its subsidiary banks are subject to various regulatory capital requirements administered by banking regulators. Failure to meet minimum capital requirements can initiate certain actions by regulators that could have a material effect on the Corporation's financial statements. The regulations require that banks maintain minimum amounts and ratios of total and Tier I capital (as defined in the regulations) to risk weighted assets (as defined), and Tier I capital to average assets (as defined). As of June 30, 2006, the Corporation and each of its bank subsidiaries met the minimum requirements. In addition, the Corporation and each of its bank subsidiaries' capital ratios exceeded the amounts required to be considered well-capitalized as defined in the regulations. The following table summarizes the Corporation's capital ratios in comparison to regulatory requirements as of June 30:

	December		Regulatory Minimum
	June 30 2006	31 2005	Capital Adequacy	Well Capitalized
Total Capital (to Risk Weighted Assets)	11.6%	12.1%	8.0%	10.0%
Tier I Capital to (Risk Weighted Assets)	9.6%	10.0%	4.0%	6.0%
Tier I Capital (to Average Assets)	7.7%	7.7%	3.0%	5.0%

Liquidity

The Corporation must maintain a sufficient level of liquid assets to meet the cash needs of its customers, who, as depositors, may want to withdraw funds or who, as borrowers, need credit availability. Liquidity is provided on a continuous basis through scheduled and unscheduled principal and interest payments on outstanding loans and investments and through the availability of deposits and borrowings. In addition, the Corporation can borrow on a secured basis from the FHLB to meet short-term liquidity needs.

The Corporation's sources and uses of cash were discussed in general terms in the net interest income section of Management's Discussion. The Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows provide additional information. The Corporation generated $64.2 million in cash from operating activities during the first half of 2006, mainly due to net income, offset by an increase in loans held for sale and other assets. Investing activities resulted in a net cash outflow of $700.3 million, due to purchases of investment securities and loan originations exceeding sales and maturities of investment securities, in addition to cash used for the acquisition of Columbia. Finally, financing activities resulted in a net inflow of $678.5 million due to increases in time deposits and additional borrowings primarily related to the acquisition of Columbia.

Liquidity must also be managed at the Fulton Financial Corporation Parent Company level. For safety and soundness reasons, banking regulations limit the amount of cash that can be transferred from subsidiary banks to the Parent Company in the form of loans and dividends. Generally, these limitations are based on the subsidiary banks' regulatory capital levels and their net income. As a result of increased acquisition activity and stock repurchase plans; the Parent Company's cash needs have increased in recent years, requiring additional sources of funds.

In January 2006, the Corporation purchased all of the common stock of a new subsidiary, Fulton Capital Trust I, which was formed for the purpose of issuing $150.0 million of trust preferred securities at an effective rate of approximately 6.50%. In connection with this transaction, $154.6 million of junior subordinated deferrable interest debentures were issued to the trust. These debentures carry the same rate and mature on February 1, 2036.

In 2005, the Corporation issued $100.0 million of ten-year subordinated notes, which mature April 1, 2015 and carry a fixed rate of 5.35%. The Corporation also has a revolving line of credit agreement with an unaffiliated bank. Under the terms of the agreement, the Corporation can borrow up to $100.0 million with interest calculated at the one-month London Interbank Offering Rate (LIBOR) plus 0.35%. The credit agreement requires the Corporation to maintain certain financial ratios related to capital strength and earnings. The Corporation was in compliance with all required covenants under the credit agreement as of June 30, 2006. As of June 30, 2006, there was $25.6 million borrowed against this line.

These borrowing arrangements supplement the liquidity available from subsidiaries through dividends and borrowings and provide some flexibility in Parent Company cash management. Management continues to monitor the liquidity and capital needs of the Parent Company and will implement appropriate strategies, as necessary, to remain well capitalized and to meet its cash needs.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

Market risk is the exposure to economic loss that arises from changes in the values of certain financial instruments. The types of market risk exposures generally faced by financial institutions include interest rate risk, equity market price risk, foreign currency risk and commodity price risk. Due to the nature of its operations, only equity market price risk and interest rate risk are significant to the Corporation.

Equity Market Price Risk

Equity market price risk is the risk that changes in the values of equity investments could have a material impact on the financial position or results of operations of the Corporation. The Corporation's equity investments consist primarily of common stocks of publicly traded financial institutions (cost basis of approximately $75.2 million and fair value of $73.2 million at June 30, 2006). The Corporation's financial institutions stock portfolio had gross unrealized gains of approximately $1.8 million at June 30, 2006.

Although the carrying value of financial institutions stock accounted for 0.5% of the Corporation's total assets, the unrealized gains on the portfolio represent a potential source of revenue. The Corporation has a history of periodically realizing gains from this portfolio and, if values were to decline significantly, this revenue source could be lost. Management continuously monitors the fair value of its equity investments and evaluates current market conditions and operating results of the companies. Periodic sale and purchase decisions are made based on this monitoring process. None of the Corporation's equity securities are classified as trading. Future cash flows from these investments are not provided in the table on page 39 as such investments do not have maturity dates.

The Corporation has evaluated, based on existing accounting guidance, whether any unrealized losses on individual equity investments constituted other-than-temporary impairment, which would require a write-down through a charge to earnings. Based on the results of such evaluations, the Corporation recorded write-downs of $77,000 for specific equity securities which were deemed to exhibit other-than-temporary impairment in value for the second quarter and six-months ended June 30, 2006. For the second quarter and six-months ended June 30, 2005, the Corporation recorded write-downs of $65,000 for specific equity securities which were deemed to exhibit other-than-temporary impairment. Through June 30, 2006, the Corporation had recorded cumulative write-downs of approximately $3.9 million. Through June 30, 2006, gains of approximately $2.7 million had been realized on the sale of investments previously written down. Additional impairment charges may be necessary depending upon the performance of the equity markets in general and the performance of the individual investments held by the Corporation.

In addition to its equity portfolio, the Corporation's investment management and trust services revenue could be impacted by fluctuations in the securities markets. A portion of the Corporation's trust revenue is based on the value of the underlying investment portfolios. If securities markets contract, the Corporation's revenue could be negatively impacted. In addition, the ability of the Corporation to sell its equities brokerage services is dependent, in part, upon consumers' level of confidence in the outlook for rising securities prices.

Interest Rate Risk

Interest rate risk creates exposure in two primary areas. First, changes in rates have an impact on the Corporation's liquidity position and could affect its ability to meet obligations and continue to grow. Second, movements in interest rates can create fluctuations in the Corporation's net income and changes in the economic value of its equity.

The Corporation employs various management techniques to minimize its exposure to interest rate risk. An Asset/Liability Management Committee (ALCO), consisting of key financial and senior management personnel, meets on a weekly basis. The ALCO is responsible for reviewing the interest rate sensitivity position of the Corporation, approving asset and liability management policies, and overseeing the formulation and implementation of strategies regarding balance sheet positions and earnings. The primary goal of asset/liability management is to address the liquidity and net income risks noted above.

The following table provides information about the Corporation's interest rate sensitive financial instruments. The table provides expected cash flows and weighted average rates for each significant interest rate sensitive financial instrument, by expected maturity period. None of the Corporation's financial instruments are classified as trading. All dollar amounts are in thousands.

Amounts are based on contractual payments and maturities, adjusted for expected prepayments.

- (2) Amounts are based on contractual maturities; adjusted for expected prepayments on mortgage-backed securities and expected calls on agency and municipal securities.
- (3) Amounts are based on contractual maturities of time deposits.
- (4) These deposit accounts are placed based on history of deposit flows.

(7) Floating rate

mortgages.

The preceding table and discussion addressed the liquidity implications of interest rate risk and focused on expected contractual cash flows from financial instruments. Expected maturities, however, do not necessarily estimate the net interest income impact of interest rate changes. Certain financial instruments, such as adjustable rate loans, have repricing periods that differ from expected cash flows. Fair value adjustments related to acquisitions are not included in the preceding table.

The Corporation uses three complementary methods to measure and manage interest rate risk. They are static gap analysis, simulation of earnings, and estimates of economic value of equity. Using these measurements in tandem provides a reasonably comprehensive summary of the magnitude of interest rate risk in the Corporation, level of risk as time evolves, and exposure to changes in interest rate relationships.

Static gap provides a measurement of repricing risk in the Corporation's balance sheet as of a point in time. This measurement is accomplished through stratification of the Corporation's assets and liabilities into predetermined repricing periods. The sum of assets and liabilities in each of these periods are summed and compared for mismatches within that maturity segment. Core deposits having no contractual maturities are placed into repricing periods based upon historical balance performance. Repricing for mortgage loans and for mortgage-backed securities includes the effect of expected cash flows. Estimated prepayment effects are applied to these balances based upon industry projections for prepayment speeds. The Corporation's policy limits the cumulative six-month gap to plus or minus 15% of total rate sensitive earning assets. The cumulative six-month gap as of June 30, 2006 was a negative 3.6% and the cumulative six-month ratio of rate sensitive assets to rate sensitive liabilities (RSA/RSL) was 0.92.

Simulation of net interest income and net income is performed for the next twelve-month period. A variety of interest rate scenarios are used to measure the effects of sudden and gradual movements upward and downward in the yield curve. These results are compared to the results obtained in a flat or unchanged interest rate scenario. Simulation of earnings is used primarily to measure the Corporation's short-term earnings exposure to rate movements given a static balance sheet. The Corporation's policy limits the potential exposure of net interest income to 10% of the base case net interest income for every 100 basis point shock in interest rates. A shock is an immediate upward or downward movement of interest rates across the yield curve based upon changes in the prime rate. The shocks do not take into account changes in customer behavior that could result in changes to mix and/or volumes in the balance sheet nor do they account for competitive pricing over the forward 12-month period. The following table summarizes the expected impact of interest rate shocks on net interest income:

Rate Shock	Annual change
	in net interest	%
	income	Change
+300 bp	+$ 10.7 million	+ 2.2%
+200 bp	+$ 7.1 million	+ 1.5%
+100 bp	+$ 3.6 million	+ 0.7%
-100 bp	-$ 10.0 million	- 2.1%
-200 bp	-$ 22.4 million	- 4.6%
-300 bp	-$ 38.7 million	- 8.0%

Economic value of equity estimates the discounted present value of asset cash flows and liability cash flows. Discount rates are based upon market prices for like assets and liabilities. Upward and downward shocks of interest rates are used to determine the comparative effect of such interest rate movements relative to the unchanged environment. This measurement tool is used primarily to evaluate the longer-term re-pricing risks and options in the Corporation's balance sheet. A policy limit of 10% of economic equity may be at risk for every 100 basis point shock movement in interest rates. The following table summarizes the expected impact of interest rate shocks on economic value of equity.

Rate Shock	Change in economic value
	of equity	%
+300 bp	+$ 1.4 million	+0.08%
+200 bp	+$ 1.5 million	+0.08%
+100 bp	+$ 0.2 million	+0.01%
-100 bp	-$ 12.0 million	-0.65%
-200 bp	-$ 50.9 million	- 2.8%
-300 bp	-$ 117.5 million	- 6.4%
