OPTi Inc. and Advanced Micro Devices, Inc. Reach Licensing and Settlement Agreement in Patent Infringement Actions

OPTi Inc. (“OPTi” or the “Company”) (OTCBB:OPTI) entered into a Settlement and License Agreement and a Litigation Settlement and License Agreement with Advanced Micro Devices, Inc. (“AMD”) on April 30, 2010. The agreements settle both pending lawsuits that the Company filed against AMD in the Eastern District of Texas.

On November 15, 2006, the Company announced that it filed a complaint against AMD in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, for infringement of U.S. patent No. 5,710,906, U.S. patent No. 5,813,036, and U.S. patent No. 6,405,291, all entitled “Predictive Snooping of Cache Memory for Master-Initiated Accesses”. On July 3, 2007, the Company announced that it had filed a complaint against AMD and other defendants in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, for infringement of U.S. patent No. 5,944,807 and U.S. patent No. 6,098,141, both entitled “Compact ISA-Bus Interface.” The complaints alleged that AMD infringes the patents by making, selling, and offering for sale products based on and incorporating Predictive Snooping technology and the Low Pin Count Interface Specification in various of its products and inducing and contributing to the infringement of the patents by others.

In exchange for the Company agreeing to dismiss with prejudice its lawsuit against AMD related to OPTi’s Predictive Snooping technology and the grant to AMD of a non-exclusive, royalty free, fully paid-up license of OPTi’s patents, AMD will make five quarterly payments to the Company totaling $32,000,000. The Company will receive $4,000,000 within fourteen days of the signing of the settlement agreement and four payments of $7,000,000 will be received on July 1, 2010, October 1, 2010, January 1, 2011 and April 1, 2011. In exchange for the Company agreeing to dismiss with prejudice its lawsuit against AMD related to OPTi’s Compact ISA-Bus Interface technology and the grant to AMD of a non-exclusive, royalty free, fully paid-up license of the OPTi patents U.S. patent No. 5,944,807, U.S. patent No. 6,098,141, and U.S. patent No. 7,523,245, AMD will make one payment of $3,000,000 to the Company within fourteen days of the signing of the settlement agreement.

OPTi has a long-standing commitment to distributing all excess proceeds to its shareholders, and the Company remains dedicated to continuing this commitment. Once the Company has completed all of the required analysis, it will make further announcements on the timing and amount of any distributions.

Information set forth herein constitutes and includes forward looking information made within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended and Section 21E of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, that involve risks and uncertainties. The Company’s actual results, including the final outcome of its pending legal actions and the success of the Company’s strategy for pursuing its patent infringement claims may differ significantly from the results discussed in the forward looking statements as a result of a number of factors, including the Company’s ongoing efforts to enforce its intellectual property rights including its current litigation efforts, the willingness of the parties the Company believes are infringing its patents to settle the Company’s claims against them, the amount of litigation costs the Company must incur in pursuing its patent infringement claims, the degree to which technology subject to our intellectual property rights is used by other companies in the personal computer and semiconductor industries and our ability to obtain license revenues from them, changes in intellectual property law in such industries and in general and other matters. Readers are encouraged to refer to “Factors Affecting Earnings and Stock Price” found in the Company’s latest Form 10-K and 10-Q filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
