SUBJECT: Integration update: Making it Happen!

I wanted to update you on some organizational realignment at TD Banknorth as we continue to plan for the transformational integration of Commerce and TD Banknorth, to create a leading, integrated North American financial institution centered on the customer.

We know that Commerce is a perfect fit with its unique Wow! factor and its superior customer experience. We know that TD Banknorth has an exceptional history in mergers, asset gathering skills and focus on profitability. And, more importantly, we know that both organizations share a passion for the customer.

To leverage the best of both organizations and ensure alignment with TD Bank Financial Group (TDBFG), we have a clear set of integration principles that will be supported with a robust focus on communications:

Protect and enhance the customer experience and expand our customer base

Establish common leadership values and create a common culture built around the customer

Treat employees fairly and with respect throughout the process

Communicate major decisions to employees as soon as we can

Leverage the best and the most cost-effective applications and processes to meet the needs of the new, stronger, combined entity

While enhancing the customer experience and living these principles, we must ensure we deliver to investors the economics anticipated in this transaction including growing revenue, realizing expected cost synergies and finding ways to improve the profitability of our strategies including better cross-selling of wealth management and personal lending products. But above all, we need to make sure that all employees understand the enormous potential that we have to create a new, exciting and transformational customer experience in financial services.

To do that and as Ed previously announced a couple of weeks ago, we have created an Integration Office (IO) chaired by Carol Mitchell, EVP and Chief Administrative Officer, TD Banknorth. With this exciting opportunity for Carol, the following changes to her current role are being made effective immediately:

John Opperman, EVP and General Counsel will now report jointly to me and Chris Montague, EVP and General Counsel, TDBFG, creating a truly North American view on all legal matters

Beth Warn, EVP Community Development will now report to Ed Schreiber, EVP and Chief Risk Officer

Joe Hanson, EVP Operations, John Petrey, EVP Technology and CIO will continue to report to Carol. Dan Westfall, SVP, Technology Service Delivery, will continue to have dual reporting to Carol and Jeff Hendersen, SVP and CTO, Infrastructure, Technology Solutions, TDBFG.

As previously announced, John Davies, SVP Corporate Services, TDBFG will be a member of the Integration Office. In this role, John will report to Carol Mitchell and will be responsible for the day-to-day integration alignment. Splitting his time between Portland and Commerce's head office in New Jersey, John is a highly respected leader whose 28 year career with the organization has included senior roles in Investor Services, Audit, Information Technology as CIO and, most recently, as the SVP of Corporate Services responsible for Strategic Sourcing, Real Estate, the Implementation Management Office and the Intranet Business Office. I am extremely pleased to have John playing a key role in the integration planning.

I am also pleased to announce that Carrie Blair, currently VP, Human Resources, Wealth Management, TDBFG will become the new head of TD Banknorth's Human Resources Group effective November 20th, 2007. Reporting to Carrie will be Cindy Hamilton EVP, Human Resources and her team. Carrie's drive to create an exceptional employee experience, focus on supporting business objectives and her previous HR experience in Wealth Management, Retail Distribution and TD Waterhouse USA as well as her contribution to the successful TD Canada Trust integration, make her an excellent addition to my management team. In keeping with our goal to ensure alignment with TDBFG, Carrie will report jointly to myself and Teri Currie, EVP Human Resources, TDBFG.

I recognize that there is uncertainty ahead, but I know that the thought of building a truly unique customer experience and the knowledge that each of us can contribute in our own way will help temper that uncertainty. These are exciting times as we work to build a North American powerhouse that will deliver a superior experience for our customers, employees and shareholders!
