Dear Colleagues

Today Barrick proposed a merger to Newmont which we believe promises significant value to both companies.

The logic for such a deal is so compelling that I believe it is important that we share this proposition with both sets of shareholders. All other considerations aside, the combination of our Nevada assets – our mineral endowments and their processing capabilities – will create a powerhouse without equal in the gold mining industry.

I know that you are still digesting the merger with Randgold, in terms of operating style as well as asset rationalization, and that a potential merger with Newmont presents a new challenge. Given the rewards that are to be reaped, however, I am sure that I can count on your support as we embark on the next stage of a total transformation of the gold mining industry, to the benefit of our employees and all our other stakeholders.

Yours sincerely

Mark Bristow
Barrick President and CEO
